BEFORE YOU BEGIN ON THE EDUCATION

Important info

Before you begin on this education, we want to inform you about the very importance of following these chapters in their right order and not jump over any important information – this is important for both your own and most importantly the child's sake.

This education is divided into five main chapters. Each main chapter has several sections – except for this one. You must begin at the top left on the main index and work your way downwards. The last chapter is on the top right side and will be the end of this education.

The chapters and sections have been placed in the best possible and most logical order so you will have an easy and great time educating yourself about child love and paedophilia in practice.

There are no direct channels for you to ask us any questions about this material. We are aware of this, so we have therefore tried to make it as bulletproof as possible so you will not have to ask any questions. Thus you are on your own during this education and will need to think critically and rationally all by yourself – independently. Though, we are working on ways to be able to communicate with our students and the paedophilia community directly and officially.

Please note that this education does not support rape or hurt-core. It neither supports vaginal or anal penetration at this point. This education is made for the adult's and the child's best interests.

Please understand and agree to everything on this page before you begin on this important education about real life child love practice.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Child sexuality

If you do not already know it, the first thing we can tell you is that children are sexual beings with sexual emotions. These emotions are something that all children are born with. The reason for our children being born with these emotions is not easy to answer except for the fact that this is the work of the evolution process – or God, if you are a religious believer.

Most children, regardless of gender, will start to show sexual interest from a very early stage in their lives. Even babies have a tendency to grab for their genitals and feel them as soon as they discover them – and it is very clear that they feel that as very nice. While the children are growing up, their sexual interest, needs and awareness will only get stronger and more present by the time.

Most children will start to show a distinct and aware sexual interest and sexual needs from the age of 3 years old – especially little girls who usually are much sooner psychologically developed than boys. This also involves a sexual curiosity toward genitalia in general.

Most sexually active children from the age of 5 will be very sexually aware with great sexual needs – and they very often seek sexual contact with adults of the opposite gender who they trust.

All children are capable of reaching a sexual climax during exploration and feeling of their own genitals – what is considered as an orgasm. Even though a lot of infants masturbate unawares, most young children who masturbate will not get distinct orgasms before the age of 3-4 years old. Some kids do not get any orgasms at all without help or guidance from adults.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Child sexuality

When little girls get orgasms, their bodies will twist and shiver while they make moaning sounds – and they get a strong sexual release. Boys will have a similar experience, though they will not be able to ejaculate semen until they reach puberty – so they will have what is called a dry orgasm, that means an orgasm without any semen.

All children from the age of 2 will in general be able to feel sexual stimulation and arouse through intimacy, touching and feeling.

Though, there are no strict nor predictable rules for this – this is just an average coverage of the general child's sexuality. But one thing is certain: our innocent little children do not only love sex, but they also have been with needs and instincts that make them what we all really are: happy, healthy and sexually active human beings.

So now you know that all children are capable of both feeling and enjoying sex – even being seductive and getting strong orgasms. Though, the children girls are the ones who usually start earliest.

With these facts established – please look them up in official Child Psychology and Child Sexuality literature if you are questioning any of them – we have always wondered why adults and children can not have sex together. Why can not the adults educate the children about sexuality while in the same time enjoying it enormously and building really strong, special, close and secure bonds together?

Children need to be taught about every fundamental function of life and their bodies. Sexuality is natural and born with. No one should be taught to fear or reject it, but instead taught everything about it.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Taboos and shame

We often read or hear about children getting damaged by having sex with adults. Actually, that might happen if you are not careful with the child or do not respect him or her. But this is not a good argument alone for adults to not have sex with children – since children might also get hurt if we do not take properly care of them. So does that mean that we should not take care of them at all, just because some parents or guardians do not do it right?

Every adult has a responsibility toward the children: to treat them as children. This is the most fundamental rule of the nature itself. So if we do not treat them as children while having sex together, logically they might suffer from it. But if we take into consideration that they are children, just as any normal and healthy parent does, using sexual pedagogy and treat them as the weakest being with carefulness and respect, then they will be essentially just fine.

As every parent already should know: you do not give your children alcohol, you give them milk. In the same way: you do not push an adult penis inside a little girl's vagina with brute force, you only play gently with it until it is properly developed. Every healthy and normal adult treat children with care and respect, and respect the child's wishes and limitations as a child.

So there are no good arguments to disallow sexual relationships between adults and children, because the children can have sex with adults as long as they are treated nice and right – and as kids. Sex is not, and will never be, essentially harmful.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Taboos and shame

So why do so many children get mentally damaged after been having a decent sexual relationship with an adult? Because sexual relationships between adults and children are generally and universally ugly, immoral and shameful in the public eye today. This mindset is being indirectly programmed into almost every child as we speak. Therefore, most children will feel these acts as ugly, immoral and shameful – and logically they might get mentally ill by growing up and being socialized into this kind of distorted culture and mindset that we have in the modern world today.

In this regard, we can scientifically conclude that it is not the sexual play and love that is harmful on the children when it is done right, it is the public attitude toward it. Therefore it is extremely important that as many children as possible get educated about the opposite: that sex is funny, delicious, special, loving and completely safe. They need to learn that they can have as much sex as they can stand during a day, and that they can come to any adult who they trust with their love and needs. It is all about the natural laws of human sexology, and all the love and joy we all can absorb from it. So, If the children learn about this from their birth, they will grow up outside these false, wicked and human made prejudgments.

At one place back in history, actually not that long ago, the human beings where hunting for witches to kill or burn them because they genuinely thought that those women where dangerous and had to be psychically suppressed. Today the hunt has moved on to child sexuality and child love – they are hunting down and suppressing something that is not dangerous or harmful at all. The history is repeating itself, and we all need to create a stopper for this culture.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Taboos and shame

This is where our step-by-step guide and education comes to its importance and relevance. By carefully guiding the children through the magic land of sexuality, the children will be able to enjoy sex without getting physically or mentally hurt – and in the end grow up to be sexually educated, self secure, mentally healthy and much loved human beings. When they reach their puberty and is about to experience sex with others, or even sex with children, they will be as educated as you will be after having gone through this education. And they will never be afraid or insecure about sexual relationships.

There are several psychological, historical and philosophical clues that lead to us humans having always been and always will be practicing sex with children in a great scale. Child love is eternal and very important for the child's development and feel of love and security on so many levels. There is a reason for why so many children are actively seeking sexual relationships with adults in excitement and joy – they all just want to experience these new and exciting feelings and learn all about them, in the same time as being loved as much as someone can be loved. And there are so many adults out there who seek and appreciate child love because our children are beautiful, attractive, cute and make us feel good. It is very easy to fall in love with a child – and vice versa.

If you start today with educating yourself about child love, and finally educating a child about this, while making love together, the future world will be a much better and safer place to live in.

Make love to children. Let them make love to you. Love them.
We need to change the world. The children need this so much.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Risks involved

Even though this step-by-step guide and education will make you able to practice sex with children within a secure safety border, using the very best and latest child psychology and pedagogy, and even experience from child lovers out in the field with several decades of experience, there are still some risks that might affect both you and the child that we want you to be aware of.

There are risks with everything in life, but practicing sex with children is one of the greatest risks of them all. Even though you do everything right, and you have your hearth in the best interest for both yourself and the child, unfortunately things can still go wrong.

The main reason for this risk being so high is firstly because of the social stigma that might affect both the adult and the child if such a relationship should get detected. We are living in a world where our mainstream culture says no to any sexual relationship between adults and kids. This might cause a lot of shame and mental pain.

The second and just as important danger is the law enforcement. If you should ever get caught by the law, the adult will be persecuted in court and be sentenced to do jail time. The length of the jail time is different from state to state and country to country. And being an inmate in a prison with a paedophilia sentence is not fun at all. You will with high certainty be harassed and even be a victim of violence. Some are even killed, in the more harsh prisons.

In most cases when sexual relationships between adults and children get detected, both of the scenarios above will hit you hard.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Risks involved

In some really rare cases, the paedophile actually gets away with it without ever going to prison nor getting psychically hurt or killed. When this is detected within some families, the ones who detect it, or the child's guardians, choose to ignore it or solve it internally. They simply do not want it to get out and harm the family's name. It also might happen that the paedophile will be forgiven by a very tolerant person – while others get chased out of the family forever. Do not put too much confidence in these latter scenarios – you should treat child love as if the worst scenario could happen to you.

If we look closer at the social stigma, the adult might get excluded from his or her social network forever – even after having done a prison sentence. That means the risk of losing family, friends, occupation, career and forever be marked as a child predator/molester and a paedophile – for the rest of your life. In some countries, especially some states in the US, your personal ID might also get entered into an official and public record of child predators/molesters – and even get your house or mailbox officially marked by the government so everyone will know what you have been sentenced for. There are also some Internet services in the US that links these databases to publicly available maps – making you a forever potential target of harassment and/or attacks.

If we look closer at the prison scenario, we can promise you that this will not be convenient nor comfortable in any way. Though, it does depend on the state or country that you are living in – not all places have that harsh rules or prisons. Generally spoken, a paedophilia prison sentence will sooner or later get you into trouble inside the walls regarding mental trauma and/or violence.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Risks involved

Unfortunately, the child might also get affected by the stigma – because everyone will try to tell the child that this was wrong, you have been hurt, you are damaged, you need help, and so forth. Eventually the child might begin to believe it, and tragically get hurt in a way that the society wants the child to get hurt.

Why take these risks then?

Because we should not let a distorted culture ruin the most special set of gifts to the human kind: children, love and sex. There is a fine line between love and sex, especially with the unique and close bonds that exist between adults and children. So when a child and an adult is loving each other and both want to express that love fully, sex can only do it all the way. That will feel enormously powerful for both the adult and the child. They will be tightening the bonds between them and make them closer and closer for each sexual experience they share together. And the child will eventually learn and be educated about sex and sexuality in practice.

As you might see, there are too many pros for everyone, even the future of the mankind, to disallow and reject these important relationships. We all need to change this twisted culture that is still doing witch hunts, just in another way, and marking sex as something disgusting, dangerous and hurtful – and causing a lot of unnecessary anger and pain. Therefore we can not allow ourselves to be suppressed and attacked by the modern day witch hunters. The more adults and children who practice child love together, the sooner our today sexual culture with all its sexual taboos will disappear.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Risks involved

We know there are parents out there who want to express sexual feelings toward their own biological children. Unfortunately, this causes an increased risk for the child that you must be aware of and take into consideration before you begin on the practical part.

All relationships between biological parents and children are very close and socially sensitive, thus why there is and will always be a greater risk of post traumatic stress for these children compared to no family sexual relationships in our present culture. In this regard, we strongly recommend that you follow some specific and really important rules if you plan on having sex with your own biological children or any other close child relatives.

Incest between biological parents and children was actually an accepted sexual and social norm in the Antic Greek - and there are no historical evidence of children having ever suffered from post traumatic stress during their regime. However, it was only allowed with father-daughter, mother-son and brother-sister relationships - which means crossing the genders as a rigid rule.

So if you are planning on having sex with your own biological child or children, you should then stick to the Antic Greek rule for the child's security. This is also supported by the nature itself: father teaching his little daughter about sex and reproduction while mom and son are doing the same. Then sister and brother can continue or in the same time practice and enjoy each other. Maybe later on, uncle and ant, or the grandparents, will want to join the fun too?

This is also a part of the human history and development.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

Risks involved

If you are a father and having boys, and you prefer boys over girls, we strongly suggest that you try to find a little boy lover further out in the family tree or someone outside the family. The same goes for mothers and daughters of course. Stepchildren is ideal for this kind of love if you want to have sex with your own kids.

Also note that in Antic Greek, gay sexual relationships were also normal and very welcome – but then again outside the family tree. Still no historical evidence that support any kind of post traumatic stress among young boys, either as young or adults.

Another important rule to prevent risks for the child is to always respect the weakest individual's choice. That means you should only practice sex with children who want to do it and want to let you do it with him or her. Not all children want to do it because they are all different from each other and have different trust and relationships toward adults. If you pursue a child who has rejected you obviously, or you insist on having sex with a child against his or her own will, or causing any pain to a child, you might hurt it on a permanent basis – and then we get real sexual abuse.

Regarding all these risks, it is very important that you pay close attention to this guide and education during your study – and in addition being careful and critical toward whatever you choose to do in real life.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

When to start - what age?

You might be wondering about what age you should or should not start practicing sex with children at. It is an important question regardless – and it is an important part of this education.

If we start at the absolute youngest, there are adults out there who appreciate and want to experience child love with newborn babies. This is actually very rare, but it still exists – and there is actually nothing wrong with this except for the fact that it is a very rare kind of child love. The only problem with this setting is that newborn babies are extremely fragile and sensitive to physical handling. Therefore, this guide and education does not allow nor support child love with children below the age of 1. An 1 year old will still be considered as a baby, but not a newborn, and therefore be much safer to handle for child love practice.

The best sexual experience between an adult and a child can only be achieved when the child is old enough to be capable of communicating well with the adult and having a sexual awareness. Therefore, our official minimum age of recommendation is children at approximately 2 years of age when practicing this guide.

You might also be wondering about when children can swallow male semen without getting stomach trouble. The swallowing of semen might happen if the child wants to do oral sex – and some children even like to eat semen during oral sex. Semen is completely harmless for any human being to swallow and digest, all the way from the day when he or she can eat and digest solid food. For security reasons, we do not recommend any swallowing of semen for children below 2 years of age.

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

When to start - what age?

The bottom line regarding when to start is that all children from the age of approximately 2 can safely experience child love without any physical risks when it is done in the right way. They will be able to feel sexual stimuli and enjoy it very much – and these kids might even reach their climaxes and get strong orgasms.

But – and here comes a big one – most children in the age of 2-4 might not be keeping any secrets for a long time. These little ones are just starting to express themselves verbally, and therefore they usually tell everyone about everything that goes on in their lives. They are not doing this intentionally, they just love to talk at this age and do not know any better. They might not tell about your sexual relationship directly, but they still might say or do something indirectly that might rise suspicion. Thus it is not that unlikely that you will get yourself into huge trouble if the child's parents or close family members, or even a daycare teacher, should hear or see something suspicious from the child. It is not like this is fated to happen as a rule, but the risk of unrevealing is greater at this age group than any other age group – most risky toward the age of 2.

If you can not resist a particular child in this age group, and you really want to perform the practical education of this guide with such a young child, like with a 2 year old, you can actually do it. But then it must be stated that the younger the child gets toward the 2 year limit, the harder it will get to communicate with the child on the advanced level that is actually required for the guide to be safely performed regarding secrecy and telling. But if you want to take the risk of getting such a secret unrevealed, our step-by-step chapter can be perfectly applied to 2 year olds – as long as it is done correctly as it educates and as careful and loving as possible.

"i am two years old"

THEORY BEFORE PRACTISE

When to start - what age?

An important tip if you plan on practicing our step-by-step guide on children between the age of 2-4, is to use codes for your actions. That means calling the adult's genital a troll, or anything creative and harmless word like that, and something for the child's genital. So if the child should tell about your actions, it should not raise any immediate suspicions. It still can be risky though, if the child should tell that it has licked daddy's troll – that will definitely raise red flags and alert most guardians or adults nearby.

Our official ideal age of recommendation to start practicing sex with children is from the age of approximately 5 years old. When the kids reach this age, their sexuality will be very present and active, they will have a strong and self secure personality, and a very good sexual and erotic awareness – thus both of you will get very much out of sexual intimacy and training. Another very important factor is that they will now be fully able to understand the idea of secrecy. Though, children are different from each other, so this might apply to even younger children too, hence why we write approximately. We have heard of successful sexual relationships in fully secrecy with children younger than 5. But the rule will always remain: The younger the kids are, the harder it will be to keep the secret.

As long as you stick to our step-by-step guide and education, and children at approximately 5 years old, then you should be just fine. You might be just as fine even with 2 year olds too, but then you must be more careful and review our warnings in this section.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Introduction

This is a very important chapter – since for you to be able to practice child love, you will need to find a child, just like anyone who seeks a mate or lover needs to find someone to share their friendship and love with. You will therefore need to find or choose a child to share your friendship and love with.

There are children everywhere, so finding a child is not difficult. The important rule of thumb here is that you should not find a child, but a child should find you. This does not mean that you can not look for and contact children, but regardless of how you get in touch with a child, the child must want to come to you and be your special friend. This is how the children's mentality work: if a child likes an adult, he or she will go to that adult. If a child dislikes an adult, he or she will stay away – and so should the adult if the latter is the case. This is a neat and great way to find that very special angel in your life that will like you and absorb your love.

Another very important thing regarding this rule of thumb is your secrecy and intimacy: there are plenty of statistics – this is even supported by official Child Psychology – showing that children who love and need the adult they are having a sexual relationship with, are the children who are least likely to tell about it. On the other hand: children who dislike the adult they are having a sexual relationship with, are the children who will most likely tell.

These underlined statements are the facts that will make your child love and its secrecy blessed and sealed, along with a special friendship and erotic relationship.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Introduction

The secret key here is to find a child who loves you and needs you, and build a special relationship from there. Look at this as the strong and solid base to build on. If you manage to do this, you will have very little to fear regarding the general risks of real life child love practice.

This rule of thumb, as mentioned on the last page, is the one that will decide your destiny during your search for and practice of child love. Just to sum it up and repeat it: make sure that the child who you have chosen is willingly coming to you - and best of all needs both you and your love.

Before we start to go through the options about how to find children, please let us be very clear on one really important thing: do not, in any circumstances, try to find a child on the Internet or through any digital mediums like cellphones. This is the number one paedophilia entrapment method of the law enforcement agencies world wide. You might get an offer on the Internet, like in a chat room with kids, that might be too tempting to leave alone - just leave it alone.

In general, try to be wise, rational and practice patience during your pursuit of finding a child in our big, wide and exciting world.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Having own children or family equal access

If you have your own children and want to engage a sexual relationship with any of them, please take our previous warning into consideration regarding the antic, but still relevant, child love rule for close family relationships on page 14.

In this regard, you will not need to do much to find a little lover, because you obviously are having a child, or even several children, within the warmth and safety of your own home or family.

It might be that you have your own children, but you might not want to engage a sexual relationship with any of them. In that case you do not need to worry at all – because having your own children equal access.

When you have your own children, you will firstly have access to lots of other kids trough your own, as your own kids have mutual friends who will run in and out of your own home. Secondly, other parents will trust you automatically since you are a parent yourself, so you might babysit their children and gain access trough trust. If you are a male parent who shows an interest in other children, as in general, you will quickly get to be your local community's hero who will melt everyone's hearts being a male that shows interest in kids and doing cool things for them. Being a woman is just a piece of cake, regardless. Thirdly, this trustful life situation might also get you easily into playgroups, daycare, preschools, schools, free time activities, sports coaching, and etc, as a teacher or a voluntary helper/worker – yet again melt people's hearts and be the community hero. We will go deeper into the second and third option later in this chapter.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Having own children or family equal access

All in all – this kind of life situation is the one that makes it easiest to engage a sexual relationship with any child at any age. In most such scenarios, you do not have to move even a finger, just rest in your favorite living room chair while the children are coming straight to you through your own door of your own house. Or at least it will give you easy access to children in general.

Then we have other family members.

Most sexual relationships between adults and children are actually close family members. Just think of it: most families contain a lot of kids here and there, either you have your own children, a little brother or sister, nephews, nieces, cousins, grandkids, or whatever. And most families trust each other automatically without any hesitations or baseless suspicions – meaning that access to kids in your very own family is extremely easy and convenient in general.

If you have kids in your family, but you do not yet have a close relationship, it might be a good idea to carefully start to visit those people and start to show a friendly interest in that particular family. But do start carefully and try not to make it too obvious, like going straight for their kids and play. Build up trust and friendship with the parents over a period of time, and see where this takes you.

Though, the risks get pretty high when things are happening so close to you, your family, and your home. Having your own kids, or kids in the family, is definitively the easiest and most convenient way to practice child love – but it might be the most dangerous too. Therefore you might want to consider our other options too – or at least read through them, regardless, before you make any decisions.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Single parents and moms with kids

Unfortunately, not all of us are blessed with children in our lives, as in having our own children or children in the family. But do not worry, that is not a show stopper. What if we told you that you can get your own kids in an instant even without making any? Well, it is true – so here we come to single parents and moms with kids.

Official statistics tell us that over 50% of all romantic relationships between adults are fated to brake – and eventually these do brake. And a lot of those relationships are parents with kids.

Usually, the moms are the ones who get the daily parenting rights and have the kids for the most of the time – the dads then being part time parents every second weekend or so. So we end up with a lot of single moms with kids out here.

Another happy news for us paedophiles is that the usual guy does not really like single moms with a lot of kids running around. So these moms are therefore usually suffering from the lack of men, love and self confidence. Some are even desperate for a man and a father to their children – not to mention economical problems: it is not easy to survive alone with a lot of kids if you have a middle class income, or even lower, and live in a country with very few welfare rights, like in the US.

With other words: this is by far the easiest and even the best way for some of you to gain access to kids if you do not have any around at this time. And as we previously have stated: when you have kids, you will also and automatically gain access to others.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Single parents and moms with kids

So, where do we start from here?

This is almost ridiculously easy: find a website or a section in a magazine or paper with dating ads. Then start to search exclusively for single parents – or just try anyone who you think is suitable and learn if they have any kids or not. Finally sort out the best candidates for you to meet in real life on a date. When you start to date and meet these single moms, you can eventually see who will fit you best, as this is a long term engagement.

You can also do it in the other way: make a dating ad of yourself and emphasize in the ad that you like and appreciate children and taking care of them – in the same time as emphasizing that you appreciate the inner values of people rather than the outer. Then the e-mails might start to roll in from desperate single moms.

We want to apologize in advance for this statement: the uglier and fatter the moms, the easier it will be for you to get into that family. Sorry if we offended anyone. We are not the thinnest nor prettiest people around ourselves, but this is just the plain and raw truth that goes both ways.

If you should find a partner, and then realize that it did not work out like you thought it would – or the kids have grown older so you would like fresh, new and small kids again – you may just separate yourself from that family, and then try again by searching for another one in the same way. So this is actually very easy and not that demanding. It should give you your own kids pretty fast. These dating ads are just like shopping marts for child lovers.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Single parents and moms with kids

This might sound very rosy and glory at first review, but as with most things in life, and unfortunately as it is, this scenario do have some significant disadvantages that you must be aware of.

There are disadvantages with this option – and for some of you, any of them might be something that you just do not want to sacrifice. Firstly, you are about to find a girlfriend and a lover. The last word tells us that your partner will most probably expect a romantic and sexual relationship. If you are having big problems with such adult relationships, or if it sounds disgusting to you, this may not be the best option for you. Secondly, you will get the responsibility of a family man and a stepparent. In other words: you should not expect any kind of Harem or Paradise – you will need to struggle and suffer as most of these men do to keep the wheels turning. But it is of course not all that bad – these are actually the only two significant drawbacks that there is, unless there are some other than these that you feel as negative that we have not mentioned.

Just make sure that you meet the kids and spend some decent time with them before you make your decision. You must have a good chemistry with the children, as in getting along and feeling comfortable with each other, before you get into a relationship with their parent. Spend time together as a family, or at least demand to do this, since you would like to see how the chemistry is first.

Do not show too much interest in the kids at once, that might raise a yellow or red flag, and might spoil your chance on that attempt. Though, you must still let the parent know that you do like and appreciate having kids around – just try to find a suitable balance.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

As we have covered in the first section of this chapter: accessing babysitting, daycare and schools is very easy if you are a parent. Such a social role and status will give a lot of automatic trust. But this is not required to get into these professions though.

Generally, you must be prepared for some strange looks and skepticism when you apply for such professions without being a parent yourself – especially if you do not have a girlfriend either, not to mention if you are middle aged or an elder without any experience or education on your CV regarding these professions. Babysitting is actually not a profession, but it is still relevant here. If you are a woman, it is, again, just a piece of cake. So it is crucial in general that you, as a male, say exactly what they want and expect to hear, and act as a nice, warm and child caring fellow when you apply for either. Just be nice, polite and humble during any job interview, meeting or request when applying for these jobs.

BABYSITTING

Babysitting is the easiest and most convenient option if you already know someone who have kids – and that you know them well. Babysitting in your own family should be a piece of cake regardless of your life situation and age. This might even give your sleepovers. It should be just as easy outside the family if you know the parents well, like if one of them is your close friend, neighbor or work fellow.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

So you will first need to make yourself available as a babysitter. This might be a little bit tricky, since you will need to be careful and a little bit bold in the same time.

The first and best option is to have your eyes and ears open, and grab the chance as soon as it comes. It might be that one in your family, or a close friend, is planning an evening out or a short trip without the kids – and then you can tell them that they can just call you if they need a babysitter. Sooner or later, that might happen, and if you manage to break this first wall, then you will be their first choice of babysitting since you will be extremely cheap and trustful. You will also get a reference from the first ones who let you babysit their children that will be very valuable in general to have.

If you lack this kind of patience, or you might have waited very long without any chances, let us look at the second and the little more trickier option. You may actually bring the subject up by yourself. You should bring it up on the fly, so it looks more like spontaneous rather than well planned. You then have to tell the person in mind that you are available as a babysitter if they should ever need one.

But now we have an important warning: unless you are seeking a job at a babysitting agency, you should only make yourself available as a babysitter toward those who you know well, and that you all know each other well and have a lot of trust between you. If you start to make yourself available as a babysitter toward less known people, or even strangers, you might be marked as a potential paedophile or child molester. Then rumors might start to spread all over your town or area. It is actually not illegal to contact anyone regarding this matter, but it is best to stay safe.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

Even though you do know the parents well – either it is your own close family or your closest friend ever – and you are about to make yourself available as a babysitter, you must be prepared for a question like this: “why would you like to babysit our children?”

It is very unlikely that close relatives who trust you well will ask this question – this will be more likely with parents outside your family. But you should be prepared regardless, just in case.

This is why rhetorics are so important. In other words: make sure that you convince them to let you babysit and do not give them any reasons to suspect your true goal. So it might not be that wise to prepare a long speech, because that might raise some suspicions. The best thing to do is not being too short about it, neither too long. Just try to be yourself and act casual – thus an answer like this one should be very appropriate: “I would just like to spend some time with kids since I don't have any of my own yet. Actually, I miss taking care of kids and I think it would've been very cool to do so.”

If you are too old or it is very unlikely that you are going to raise a family in the future, you can just exclude the “yet”. It does not have to be exactly like the sentence above, but something in that neighborhood – and just stick to that opinion in general if any other questions should be asked.

What you want to do is not act like you really really want to, but rather that you are just generally interested in children and interested in taking care of them. That is actually a positive thing and it might be very charming too, especially on women, that a male shows this sort of interest.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

Remember that it might not be as critical as we make it here – it might just go completely smooth without any raised eyebrows nor suspicious questions. But you should be prepared for the worst. If they should take you off guard with such questions, and you suddenly get unsure about what to say and begin to halt, then they will definitely get suspicious at one or another level.

DAYCARE

Daycare centers are definitely not the easiest nor most ideal ways of getting into child love. There are several reasons for this: Firstly, most of them are very open and transparent. Most of these modern centers are aware of child molesters, and is therefore built to protect the children from guys like us who want to do child love. Bathrooms and changing rooms, where you obviously would gain easy access to nude children, are often fully transparent with several windows and/or doors that cannot be locked at all. All rooms might have such windows and transparency. Secondly, daycare centers have very young children in general, so it might be hard to arrange any meetings or any sessions alone outside the center – which by the way is how this guide is designed for to begin with. Thirdly, these centers are very supervised. They might even have cameras, either open or hidden ones, that they regularly check.

Though, by getting yourself inside such a profession, it might just open some doors that again might lead to child access elsewhere. You might meet a single mom trough this work – but you will mainly be a person that many people will trust automatically because of your profession and status as a daycare worker. This might even lead to very easy babysitting. So this is still well worth considering.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

But there are some pearls here and there, especially in the less urban areas, like up in the country somewhere. Such centers are less aware of molesters and less suspicious in general, and might contain less children too, compared to a big city center. And there are daycare centers that have so few children that you will be alone with the kids at certain periods of the day – or even for whole days, like those small and private family daycare centers that is often placed in regular homes in those very small communities. So with some patience and mobility, you can search all around and just try to get inside one of these rare but very nice centers.

If this is what you want to do, first of all, you need to get into one. Getting into one should not be difficult. Of course, we always come back to the advantage of either being a parent yourself or having some kind of experience or degree on paper that raises the trust. Regardless, there are two ways of getting into a daycare:

1. You know someone who runs such a center or work there, so it will be easy to get an assistant or teacher position there.
2. You apply like most others do, either by your own or by ads.

If you know someone inside such a center, it should be a piece of cake getting into one – and you should have a lot of trust already.

Applying to daycare work in the traditional way is a bit more tricky. But still, there is not a crime applying for such a position. And this should not mark you as anything negative unless you give them a very good reason to do so.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

So when you apply for a daycare position, you will most likely need to meet up for a job interview. And please note that most of these centers do a check on you through the police, to check if you have been earlier arrested or sentenced for child molestation.

During any such job interview, it is very likely that you will get the famous question: “Why are you interested in working with children?” So we get back to this rhetoric thing, and you need to be prepared. When you are at the job interview, there is nothing wrong in giving a little speech, contrary to babysitting for family or friends, since now you are in a completely different social environment. So our recommendation as an answer to the famous question would be: “First of all, I love children. And since I don't have any of my own yet, I really feel like I'm missing out on something very important in life, that is being a father and having the role of taking care of and giving safety to children. I would really like to have this opportunity since I look at this profession and role as a gift.”

Here you have given the daycare center a very credible reason. You might get further questions about this, but just stick to this reason in one or another way. There is not much more to add, really just be generally prepared to get interviewed about your interest and engagement toward children, and motives about this position. Most of these job interviews are not all that bad.

One really good news for us paedophiles is that most daycare centers, or any similar institution, look at men as a positive thing. This is because they want the children to have male role models – this is actually a very important subject in children pedagogy today.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

It might sound like, once again, that we are exaggerating this issue to such a level that there are several things that could go terrible wrong for you. Actually it is not like that at all – at least not during a regular daycare job interview. We are only preparing you for the worst, again, since there is no way of knowing in advance what kind of person that is going to interview you. You might meet a really nice and tolerant person, or you might meet an old and intolerant one with lots of prejudgments toward male roles in daycare – so it is very important to be very prepared for potentially embarrassing situations.

If you should get provoked or even personally insulted in any way during the interview, do not act provoked as in angry or aggressive. Just keep it cool and go through the whole interview as calm and natural as possible. Some might actually do this just to test you – if you start to sweat or get angry, they might think that you are there for other reasons than what is expected. This is not very likely to happen either, but as been said, just be prepared.

Working at a daycare should be a very valuable and important thing for any paedophile. You will be surrounded by a lot of kids and be able to take care of, have fun with, and generally enjoy these cute and sexy little creatures who we love so much. It is very nice to have small children crawl all over you each day.

Though, this can be pretty hard too, having a lot of temptations all over you and not being able to make love with them. If you are a person who lacks self control or self discipline, or is very impatient by nature, this might not be the best choice for you in the end.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

When or if you get a position at a daycare center, your first priority must be to just take it really easy and slow at the beginning. Do not start with anything for a long while even if this should be possible. You will need to gain trust – and this can only happen over time.

When you start to gain trust, you will also gain more access to the more intimate parts of the daycare routines and roles – and you might be left in more unsupervised situations. When you have gained all the trust there is to gain, the fun may begin – if possible.

We actually do not recommend daycare centers to practice child love unless you know the daycare very well so you know that this is where child love could be practiced. Though, if you just want to be with children and you have lots of time and patience on your hands, it might actually be really rewarding if you should ever get into one.

Daycare centers do offer something important: lots of different kids at different ages, sizes, colors and personalities – so you are bound to find a mate there sooner or later, but it can definitely be time consuming, challenging and dangerous.

If you are able to be alone with a child for a long enough time to be able to practice sex with kids, by following our step-by-step guide, and that you are able to repeat these sessions indefinitely, then there is not much more to say about daycare centers other than the best of luck to you – and stay safe.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

SCHOOLS

Finally we have schools. This is sort of similar to daycare centers, but there are some important advantages at this domain that make this a really interesting place to seek sexual relationships with kids. Daycares and schools will of course differ a lot considering the different age groups, so we will be talking mainly about elementary schools here with children from the age of 6-12 years old.

Let us first take a look at some interesting assets regarding schools:

Firstly, schools are usually quite big in general, so there will be a lot of children versus adults on a decently big arena. Though this will differ a lot from school to school – big city schools will be the biggest while small town schools will be way smaller and intimate. This ratio of few adults and many kids at one big closed arena will make it very easy for you to blend into the crowd and not raise any questionable attention from other teachers or adults while you are searching for children and trying to establish a connection with one. If you think of it: teachers who talks to kids at schools, either being outside or inside, is kind of natural and pretty usual. Several child lovers have stated that this is almost like fishing in an aquarium. Secondly, it is very normal and usual for teaches to speak alone to the kids, like after or between the classes – so if you sense a nice connection with one of the kids at the school, you can then just ask to speak with him or her alone. Thirdly, and as with daycare, you will have a lot of different kids compressed into a small arena, so it should be pretty easy to find a spouse sooner or later.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

This sounds like a really good deal, does it not? Actually, there are drawbacks here as well. Firstly, if you want a full time teacher position, they are most likely going to demand some kind of education or degree from you. Secondly, being a teacher can be a very difficult and demanding task if your responsibility covers the older children. The older the children get, the more independent and cocky they get. Thirdly, older kids can be both unpredictable and difficult to handle – so if you seduce the wrong kid of the older ones, even if you thought it was okay and secure, hell might break loose and they all might mark you as a paedophile or something really negative through rumors. Then they might make your life very difficult – even if you have not broken any laws. Though, all these drawbacks increase with the children's age, thus they are not that heavy regarding the younger ones.

Getting a job at a school should be pretty easy – this is usually a very ungrateful and underpaid profession in general. The process of applying and doing job interviews is very similar to what we have already gone through with the daycare profession – though we guess schools are less strict and suspicious to men. Obviously, you can not expect to be a full time teacher without any degrees or experience, since most schools will require this. But it should be easy to get a temporary job as a replacement teacher or a helper.

You might consider taking a teacher education to be able to get a job at a school. If you are considering this only to be able to practice child love, then we want you to reconsider it. This will have a pretty high risk in general, just as with any public institutions with kids, so you might use a lot of time and money on something that might just blow up – hence why it is better to just apply as a helper.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Babysitting, daycare and schools

Please note that if you communicate or maintain contact with the school children through cellphones or Internet, something that gets more and more usual for teachers and pupils in these modern days, be aware of spilling digital evidence all over the place that might get you caught or be used against you as evidence later in your life. This might be difficult to avoid, since most modern children are using cellphones and Internet as primary communication between each other and with adults. But there are ways to secure oneself when communicating through these mediums. Firstly, use a false SIM card in a cellphone that can not be linked to you at all. Secondly, try to make up some secret codes that you and your child will use – most children will think that this is pretty exciting anyway. Thirdly, on the Internet, use an anonymity service like TOR with a secret e-mail and a secret community account, like on My Space. Also make sure to use an encrypted computer operating system and encrypt and/or hide any laptop or crucial information.

ENCLOSURE

The number one recommendation for this section would be to try babysitting for people. Here you will be able to be alone with one or several kids over a decent duration of time. Our number two recommendation will be daycare, preschool and school institutions. Schools might be the best way of the latter, and a pretty neat way in general, to find a little spouse – and then arrange meetings after the school or in weekends, either outside or at your own home. Schools might be the most neat and easiest way of finding kids, but then again, it sure is risky – especially if you work at a local school. There might be other institutions as well, like orphan homes and summer camps – and these will be pretty similar to the other ones.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

Many paedophiles who want to get in touch with children are looking actively for children out in our huge world. The world is very huge and there are lots of communities, towns and cities out there for you to search for children at – maybe not even far away from your own home. The more mobile you are, the more children will be available to you, and the more secure it will get.

This might actually be the safest approach of them all to choose – since here you will have the opportunity to travel some distance from your own home and community, thus be anonymous and be able to pull back in time and get away without ever revealing your identity or true goal. If you are the kind of person who does not like to take risks and likes to sneak around as a lone wolf by yourself with a large security border, this is the ultimate way of finding kids.

Still though, this kind of approach means that you must have a lot of patience on your hands and be able to practice self control as in being very careful and relaxed. It is also a major advantage to be mobile, like having a car or a second anonymous car for the searching only, though neither are required to use this option at all.

This is going to be a very comprehensive section since there are so many variables here. It all depends on where you live, how far you want to go, how serious or long you want the relationship to be, etc. Regardless, this section is about finding a little spouse outside your own family and public institutions – out in the wide open world.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

Before we can begin on this section, we must first use a little time to go through some important security issues:

Even though there are no laws against approaching and communicating with random children in most parts of the world, people in their upside-down minds will not look at this as innocent. You might be confronted, or even attacked, by an aggressive person if being seen – or even a mob of people if you are very unlucky. Therefore, as spoken, you must be really careful and relaxed during this type of search for children – being stealthy is very important.

It is a kind of paradox: in one way you are very safe by taking this path, regarding your privacy. In another way you are very unsafe, regarding witnesses and people's unpredictable reactions – not to mention the police or community guards. But still, this approach is all in all the safest one if you are careful and observant. Actually, we recommend this approach over any – since here you can have a certain distance to your home, which means you get a distinct separation between your child love activities and your own home. You do not need to obligate yourself to anything either, you can just try this out and see where it takes you over time, thus being a very useful option to those of you who are inexperienced or uncertain.

Try to have an excuse made up in advance just in case you should get confronted by the police, community guards or local residents.

In general, everyone should be able to walk around anywhere without getting arrested for using their freedom, but the fear of child molesters have made many people paranoid and very aware.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

When you are about to find children outdoors, there are mainly three options for you to choose from:

1. Your own house and lot
2. Your own neighborhood or local town
3. Remote neighborhoods and towns

The difference between the last two options are mainly related to the distance between your home and your child love activities regarding the search for children. Each one has its own unique pros and cons, so you will need to make a final decision for what you think will fit you best. Actually, you can try all options if you like.

Your own house and lot

You do not even need to leave your own house or lot to meet new children and child love candidates. If you are bound to stay at your house, and preferably living alone, you can actually get the kids all the way to your front door – and even inside. It might be that you have a medical condition that makes you very little mobile, or other explanations for this immobility – but do not fear, it is still possible.

This might even be a very safe option too – since as soon as you get the kids inside, no one can watch your activities from outside. Though, on the other side, you might also very easily get arrested and marked as a predator if something should go wrong during this option – since now your home address and name will be involved.

SMILE

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

There are three ways of getting in touch with children without leaving your own home and lot:

1. Wait until some kids ring on your doorbell. They might be asking you to borrow something of yours, or they are selling lottery tickets, cookies or whatever. Though, this is almost like lottery itself, since it might take a while for it to happen.
2. Put up an ad at the local mall or at any gathering place, asking for a young helper for any sort of easy and child proof work. It might be general garden work like watering the flowers or planting stuff. If you want to try to get the kids inside your house, you can advertise for housekeeping work. If you can not travel to put up ads, try make someone do it for you, and there will be nothing to suspect from that at all. Also consider getting a pet that can be watched or walked. Children both love and need money, so they are willing to stretch pretty far to get it – even if it is not much.

These two options are the ones that does not require you do look actively for the children outside you door, but rather having them coming at you own door with very few risks involved at this stage.

3. Make yourself visible out in your garden doing different stuff, maybe something interesting. Sooner or later, a kid might approach you and make contact. Having one or several pets will yet again make your lot a kiddie magnet.

We will be going deeper into pets and dogs later in this section, since this is a generally important asset for outdoor searchers.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

Your own neighborhood or local town

By living in any sort of community, like most people actually do, you will most likely have several neighbors. And those neighbors are most likely to have children – at least some of them should. And those children will most likely be playing outside and all around in the community. And parents who have lived in a community in happiness for a longer period of time will have a feeling of trust and security toward their community, thus having most of their guards down and allowing their kids to play all over the place without that strict supervision. Though, this varies among places and parents.

So just by living in an average community, you actually do not need to travel further than you are able to walk to be able to find kids. Though, as spoken, when you are searching in your own local area, the risk of suspicion, and even being marked as a predator, is higher compared to traveling to other communities further away. This is because when you are traveling, no one will be able to know who you are and where you come from – in other words: your personal identity is much safer.

Though, if you live in a small community or town, where most people know each other, you might have a huge asset: you might have a lot of trust and confidence from your neighbors and other community residents who know you well and like you – thus you will not raise that much of suspicion while walking or traveling around.

You will also know your surroundings well by searching in your home community, hence making the search pretty easy in general.

SMILE

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

Remote neighborhoods and towns

Now we get to the most exciting and exotic part of finding children out in the wide open world, and that is traveling around and finding children outside your home community and local area. Here you will have the great opportunity of taking all the time you need to search for the right place and the right child. It might take a while, as with the other two main options, but the reward will be great in the end.

This approach will provide you with the great security of protecting your personal ID and privacy, since people will not know who you are nor where you live when you travel to an unknown place. Though, on the opposite side, you might rise some attention by just being a stranger in any town – as in opposite to searching in your local community and area.

The first advice that we will share regarding this option is to have a reasonable distance between your home and the place you have marked for searching. In this way you will be very safe regarding your ID and privacy.

Our second advise, if you can afford it, is to use an anonymous second car that no one knows about. If you can not afford this, you should alternatively park your primary car at a place where it is hidden and not connected to you and your activities. You may of course use your car during spotting, but never approach any children with your car – it has a brand, color and registration plate that might be remembered by a lot of witnesses, and linked to you. You should also park your car at a spot where it is easy to get to if you should ever need to escape in an emergency situation.

SMILE

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

It would be a good idea to prepare yourself for travel in advance by buying maps or a vehicle GPS unit with several maps installed on it. Then use all the time you need to look at the maps and look for cities, towns or communities that have a certain distance from your home area. But it is important that you chose a place where you have not been before, so no one there will know who you are - what is the major asset and point of this option to begin with.

The amount of distance is really all up to you and your capabilities, and general resources, but the risks increases when you are staying over night at hotels or motels and leaving ID traces all around. Regarding distance and security, you really do not need to travel very far to be safe. The safest option might be to travel a distance that lets you return the same day without sleeping. If you do need to sleep over, then we suggest sleeping in your car if possible.

A GPS unit is generally a priceless tool for this type of search, and it will be a great investment if you do not own one already. It will firstly give you an interactive map for your whole country with great details and active road directions. Secondly, you can program an instant and quick escape route in advance if you should need to get quickly out of somewhere - or get lost. Thirdly, a neat feature on these units is the possibility to mark spots for you to get back to later if you should ever pass one. Fourthly, and at last, the importance of marked speeding cameras, to avoid a huge bummer of getting your car and face photographed on the way.

You can also use Internet for map use, but this is really not recommended because you might then leave digital traces behind you that might link you to your activities later - even much later.

SMILE

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Children out in the wide open world

The greatest tool of them all during any search for children outside would be a laptop. On this computer you can store lots of info and research both in advance of the search and during the search.

When you are using any computer to store notes and information related to your search for children, it is very crucial that you have a completely encrypted computer so no one can recover any data that is stored on your computer related to the search – especially if your laptop should get stolen during the search.

Make sure that no one knows about where you are traveling, and do not use your credit card nor make yourself visible on any surveillance cameras, like on gas stations. Use psychical money if you must buy something on the road – but most ideally, make sure you have a full gas tank and all the props you will need for the trip in advance so you do not need to stop anywhere to buy stuff.

Do not to ask anyone for road directions during any search. Any sort of communication with people during the travel and search will leave witnesses that might describe you and your car.

We do not mean to scare you, but you must be prepared for the worst. If the worst should ever happen, you have then done all the important things to avoid any negative consequences from it.

Other creative methods and some final words

There are even more ways to find kids in this world.

Establishing a playgroup

This might be the least likely thing that a male person can start and run without anyone raising their eyebrows. Though, if you have your own children or have a lot of children in your family, it should be doable to a certain degree. On the downside, playgroups are mostly for toddlers – and the parents might also go with them – but still you might find a way to run one and be able to find a spouse. Any sort of references, or even an education, might be needed too.

Establishing other activity clubs

Here it gets a little bit easier. There is a lot of creative potential in establishing free time activities for children from the age of 5 or so. A boy or girl scout club could be a nice idea to think about. As always, with your own children it will be very easy to establish. Without your own children, the parents might here as well raise their eyebrows, or at least demand some references or education.

Establishing a sports clubs

This might be the easiest way to establish an activity club. If your community should lack football or any other sports clubs for kids, most parents would probably love to see it happening. Though, it requires some basic knowledge about the chosen sport. This will be a great way in general to build trust between you and the parents, something that might lead to building other clubs in the future that might be too challenging for a male adult to run at first.

Other creative methods and some final words

Running a summer or winter camp

If you are able to and have the economy to buy a whole camp, like a summer or winter camp, with cabins and props, then there is always the possibility of opening and running a children camp. This would have been heaven regarding this guide – since then you would be running the camp as the administrator, thus have all the keys and access to everything and everyone. And each season, a bus load of new kids comes to you. But it requires a lot of resources and should ideally be run with a female partner and spokesperson.

Running an orphan home

This is also something that requires a lot of resources, not to mention education or educated employees. But it is actually doable with enough boldness and money as an investment. This is maybe the ultimate heaven to start practicing child love within, as you will have continuous access to children that need care and love more than any – kids in all ages.

These latter options are maybe a little bit too much of a dream and a fantasy rather than reality. Still, the fun part of all this is that both scenarios are actually doable.

Other creative methods and some final words

Running a daycare or babysitting service

Here we get back to what we previously have been into regarding searching for children, except for now you are running a daycare or a babysitting service yourself, hence you will gain more access and control compared to being a worker or volunteer only.

Running a babysitting service might be a very interesting option, since then you will be traveling to other people and babysit their kids – or best of all: having the kids brought to your own home.

If you are a single male who runs such services without having any kids yourself, this will definitely raise some eyebrows. You might here as well be asked for references and an education on paper. Then again, it helps a lot to have your own children, or best of all a female partner and spokesperson in the business.

Some final words

Being creative is a huge asset when you are about to search for and get in touch with children, and start to build a loving relationship. We are very sure that we have by now covered most ways of finding children. If you should find another method, please go for it, and try to use this guide as guidance as much as possible regardless of method used.

Finding children to love might turn out to be easier than most of you think, especially those of you who are inexperienced or first timers. As this education continues, you will be lead by our competence and experience to find that special child of yours.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

In the professional paedophilia community, there are 4 well known and very important advantages that you should learn about. These advantages are very important because they provide some fundamental assets for every adult who are searching for children and child love – and they will indeed make your search a lot easier.

1. The advantage of owning an animal
2. The advantage of searching in poor communities
3. The advantage of finding sad and lonely children
4. The advantage of using schools as starting points

The advantage of owning an animal

Getting yourself an animal should be the very first thing to consider if you are serious about finding a child love candidate, either if you plan to have the children come to your home or search outdoors. Animals are what we like to call child magnets.

Any type of animal will work as a child magnet, but we will focus on dogs in this education since these are the most versatile and best investments you can ever make regarding searching for children. It is a crucial tool that will help you more than you think – and it should not be underestimated.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

If you are bound to your own house or lot, and you have animals, especially outdoors in visibility, and of course cute or kind animals, these animal will attract a lot of children. It will be a serious child magnet, or a honeypot if you like, especially rabbits if you plan to have the children come to your own house and lot. And of course, dogs will do the trick as well in this situation.

A male person with several rabbits, or a nice dog, will be considered as an animal lover too – and consequently gain a lot of automatic trust among other adults and parents in the community.

If you are about to search for kids outdoors, either if it is in your local community or you plan to travel, a dog is what you will need. A dog will be your passport for walking freely and safely around in any neighborhood at almost any time of the day. Just think of it: if you where to notice a male walking around in your neighborhood with his hands in his pockets and just glancing around, would not that have been suspicious? At least to a certain degree it would. What about if you where to notice a male walking his dog around in your neighborhood instead? Then you would not have been all that suspicious, even if it had been a stranger. Most people would not have thought about it as any suspicious at all. So do you see where this is heading? Thanks to our programmed society, anyone who is walking around with a dog, is suddenly not a threat, at least a very small threat compared to a dogless person doing the same.

A dog will also make it easier to approach children in general since most children love animals – especially little girls. Smaller dogs and puppies are some really powerful little girl magnets.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

Though, on the downside, by owning any sort of animal, you might end up with some unwanted work and responsibility. But it is well worth it as a child magnet and community child search passport. It will make things so much easier for you, thus why all of you should seriously consider it.

Animals might even be free to get, since there are lots of animal centers out there with orphan dogs or kittens – or farms that give away newborn rabbits, kittens or whatever. So if you are short on money, you actually do not need to pay anything for this at all, just search all around for animals and act like a true animal lover. Though, it will cost some feeding and taking care of the animal.

You must get a friendly animal, like a nice dog that is not that big. Do not get an angry Doberman or a huge wolf like polar dog.

The advantage of searching in poor communities

There are several different communities out there – some are small and some are big. There are neighborhoods, small towns, big towns and even huge cities with a lot going on.

All these communities are different from each other, but some of them are more suited for finding children than the other – which is the poor areas, and poor as in low economy.

The golden rule of poor communities regarding searching for kids: the poor areas are the areas with the highest amount of kids and lowest amount of caring and concerning parents.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

If you are bound to keep your search at where you live or you are not able to travel, then we suggest, if you are not already there, moving to a poor part of your country and into a crowded community with lots of families with children. This will be a general advantage since there will be a lot of kids running all over the place and few parents who have control over their kids. This also regards those of you who plan to search for kids outdoors, meaning that you might want to consider finding such low economy communities.

The odds of finding a child there are really high, compared to the more richer and lighter communities – and the odds of not being noticed or caught are just as high. This is the number one recommendation for anyone who are lacking general resources. But even if you should have a lot of personal and economical resources, just by getting a second home in such a community will be a huge asset if you should lack the motivation of traveling around.

The bottom line here is: these poor communities are filled with poor people with personal problems and/or very few to none resources. They either care less about everything or are too busy with surviving, compared to other and more fitted people. Alcohol and drug abuse is a common factor in such areas – not to mention domestic violence and child abuse. Thus, their kids will be left very often alone and unsupervised. And these children will be much more open for love from other adults, even total strangers, compared to kids from the more fitter areas.

You might not want to enter the most poor ghettos out there, to avoid the danger of a high crime rate, but rather find a general poor but still kind of family friendly community.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

If you should live in a more decent or upper class neighborhood, you will need to be more discreet and careful during the search. This of course also regards those of you who are traveling around. These parents have much more resources and much less social and personal problems, so they will be way more capable, supervising and careful parents with a much higher intellectual standard. This does not make it impossible though – but the better the community is, the more difficult it gets to find children outdoors. Though, in the very wealthy communities, it sometimes happens that kids gets overlooked by their parents – like the old cliché goes: I had all the money in the world, but no one to love nor care for me.

But there are communities that fall right in between the poorest and the finest, also known as the middle class communities, which represent the majority of communities in the western world today. These are the communities that most of you will likely be living in or run into when traveling around. These people are in general not that poor, but neither that rich. So we are generally talking about nice and clean communities with lots of children playing around, but also lots of caring and careful parents.

We do not recommend big towns or cities, just as we do not recommend very small ones either. The big cities are too noisy and crowded with too much of glass and concrete – so nowhere to hide. The smallest towns might give you too much unwanted attention.

The standard and size of a community does impact the possibility and simplicity of child love enormously. So the perfect community would be a poor or a poor to middle class medium sized community outside a big city with a lot of families with children in it.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

The advantage of finding sad and lonely children

This might be the most important information of this whole chapter: It does not matter how or where you want to find children, but sad and lonely children are the children who you would want to look for. This will not only make your search and approach very convenient, but in addition to that: extremely safe.

These children are simply perfect and almost too easy to approach. They will be easy contact subjects since they will most probably be lonely or sad in lack of adult attention and parenthood – or they are being teased and left out of a social group. They will be more interested in finding adults rather than children, and they will be very insecure in this huge world, hence why these children are often to be found alone in the first place – in their own little worlds.

Finding such a child is not just good for you, but also very good for the child itself and its future. Most of these children are suffering from one or several important lacks in their lives – so your role, with your important gift in life being a paedophile, is to take away all that pain and give these children friendship, care, love and sexual education at once – a perfect and well suited fit. All such children will absorb every grain of your love – and he or she will give you just as much love in return. These are children who will almost eat you up if you give them as much as a friendly smile along the road. They are in desperate need of love, so your search and journey is actually very important because of all the lonely and unloved children who are existing out there and just wait for you and your genuine love – and your born with gift being a paedophile.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

Do not worry if you do not find such children at once or at an early stage of your search, because they do exist – and you would have been surprised to know how many there actually are. If you are patient enough, you will meet one eventually. You might even meet several if you are very patient and observant.

The general traits of these children are firstly the oblivious: they are usually alone. You will see them walking or playing around, either to and from school or just around in the neighborhood, all alone. Secondly, everyone will just sense from a long distance that they are attention seeking creatures. They look at adults, trying to establish contact with their eyes – and might even just come to you for no other reason besides their tender loneliness. Thirdly, they will give you a lot of trust in a very short time. Most of these children will stick to you like glue from the very first second you meet.

So what can be better than this, really? It is easy to make contact and maintain contact since they prefer adults over other children in their search for love and care – and they will stick to you like glue. That is the beauty of these kids and the paedophilia orientation.

Most importantly: These are the ones who will be most dedicated to you – and these are the ones who are least likely to reveal or tell about your special relationship and intimate secrets. Because these kids will do anything to keep your attention, friendship and love.

This does not mean in any way that this is the only type of children for you to look for – you can also look for any other kids who seem to like you and your care toward them. But the sad and lonely kids are the ones who will make your search very easy and very safe.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

The advantage of using schools as starting points

When you are about to find children outside, either if it is in your local area or by traveling, it will be extremely advantageous to use schools, such as elementary schools, as starting points. These are what we like to call Children Hot-Spots.

Schools are in general every community's central and heart of kids. These centrals are usually placed in, yes, the geographical center of the communities themselves, thus making them such great places as starting points. If you draw a circle on a map around any school in any community, you might cover even more Children Hot-Spots where kids hang out – it could be parks, playgrounds, sports fields, or any place where the children might gather and hang out. You will also cover several of the children's homes within this circle.

So the first thing you should do when you have found a community to search for children at, local or remote, is to locate the school(s).

Then the surveillance begins. You will need to survey the school from a safe distance and position – and at first just look at it and learn how it is and how it works. Then you must continue to survey so you can see which routes the children are using to travel home from school. So you might want to consider buying a nice pair of binoculars to get a closer and better view.

Many children though, especially in the US, are using school buses. If you are about to follow these around, you must be very careful. Even though there are no laws against driving around, it still might give you unwanted attention from the residents and the police.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

The 4 important advantages

By following the children after the school is over, you will suddenly find out where everyone, or anyone of your choice, are living. From there you can continue to survey and eventually find their gathering places – or even their secret places if you are very lucky. You will learn every child's routines by watching their homes.

Now you see how important schools really are – they will give all the info that you need to find the right child for you. From there you will be guided through and learn all the routes, roads, playgrounds and miscellaneous places where the children hang out. Should you find a child who you want to have a closer look at, then you will know where that child lives and be able to supervise further from there. This is so fun, exciting and pretty exotic. You might just find a child where you least expect it.

It is extremely crucial to be careful and discreet while doing all this. Especially in the US, both the citizens and especially the police are paranoid regarding the children – so do act discreet. If anyone should confront you during this stage and wonder what you are doing, just make up a story, like you are looking for houses for sale or anything like that – and then leave that area for good.

Note that it is perfectly legal to travel wherever you like in most parts of the world, so no one can ever prove that you are doing what you are doing, and therefore not arrest you for just driving or walking around in any community. Actually, you do not need to give anyone any reasons for what you are doing, because you are a free human being that is allowed to travel wherever you want to and experience the world. But it is wise not to provoke anyone, so just be polite, humble and have an explanation made up in advance.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

By now we have gone through the important sections and options of where to find children – all the way from waiting for children in the comfort of your own home toward exotic and expensive ideas like buying and starting a camp or orphan home. We have also been into the four important advantages that have given you some really important info to make your search as easy and safe as possible. Regardless of method used, and if you have not done so already, you will now need to survey, choose a child, and finally confront the child and establish a special relationship for the first time.

We have already been talking a little bit about surveillance during the section by using schools as starting points and finding other Children Hot-Spots in a community or town. We have also been talking about some security issues regarding surveillance, like being very careful when following school buses. This is anyway the most exciting part of finding children outdoors – and we will be talking more about surveillance in this section.

Confronting a child for the first time, especially an unknown child, might sound very scary and difficult for first times. This might even sound impossible for some of you. But please do not fear – our guide is created in a way that this approach and establishment can be considered as safe and legal in most parts of the world, since you are not about to do anything sexual toward any children yet. Thus, this will be exciting and fun for everyone – and you also need to remember that children are some really special creatures with a high rate of openness, trust and curiosity that is utterly unique. Every true paedophile has the natural gift of communicating well and having a good chemistry with most kids in general.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Finally you will need to create a relationship if the chemistry between you and your selected child is well. This is something that all of you will need to do, whatever way you choose to find children, if you do not know the child well enough nor know him or her at all. We will of course guide you through all this during this section too.

The surveillance

As soon as you have found a community, town or any place where there are children, the surveillance must begin.

This will require strong patience and some time – sometimes even a long time. It is important to be stealthy and careful, and be aware of people who are glancing – and especially be aware of community guards and police cars that might be passing by or drive around.

A good start would be to just drive through your selected place with your car and get a rough overview of the place and its layout. If you should not own a car, you may walk around, or even use any public transport within the community or town, like buses or cabs. But be aware about using any public transport, since you will leave more witnesses and traces behind if used, so be careful about that.

If you have a map or a GPS unit, try to find the local elementary schools, and some other Children Hot-Spots where these little ones might hang out, and learn about their locations. Try to find a discrete surveillance spot at all these Hot-Spots, especially at the schools, so you are able to survey the kids from a safe distance when the master surveillance begins. Ideally, you should invest in some long binoculars so you can survey safely from a long distance.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

It would be very wise to do this on a weekend, like on a Saturday or a Sunday, so you can get close to the schools without alerting anyone – and thus be free to study things thoroughly the first time.

If you think that your selected community or town is suitable, then park your car and start to walk around the schools and all the Children Hot-Spots that you have found – try to learn all the roads and paths leading to and from these.

Just try to get to know the place, in general, so you later on will have this knowledge during the master surveillance.

Please remember and strongly consider the importance of having a dog while walking around at any time during your survey – this will make your survey generally much more safer, discrete and easier than by not having one.

The next step from there will be to start surveying the children.

You might actually find children even the very first time you drive through your selected place, but we recommend getting a little bit familiar with the place before you actually start to survey or follow anyone. Though, you are perfectly allowed to start immediately if you should find some really good candidates at the very beginning. In that case, try to be careful – and very careful if using a car.

It would be wise to start surveying the kids on a workday, because then most adults will be at work so you will be more secure and free during any stalking of children – and of course the children will be at school and the recommended main starting point.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

You have already learned about the schools being a really wise starting point for finding children, especially the elementary schools, so start to use your surveillance location at a school and just watch the school and the children inside its fences.

Now you will be able to see how that particular school works by studying and learning about its times, routines and the general activities among the children.

You will be seeing a lot of children out in the yard during breaks between classes, along with children coming and leaving – and here it is very important to try to find any child who stands out as in not being a part of any group. That means searching for those sad, lonely and maybe teased children. That might take a while, so patience will be your most important tool now.

Almost every single school will have at least one child who are left out of the social groups, and maybe being teased by the others. Most likely every school will have several such kids. And these kids will be looking desperately for new friends, even adults.

As soon as you find a sad and lonely child out in the yard, keep your eyes and focus on that child from there on. Those children are usually walking home alone – or if they use a school bus, make sure that you follow it and see where they get off and where they live.

It could be very wise to have a bird book on you, in case someone should confront you while watching the school or the surroundings. In that case, you can just tell them that you are watching birds and are new to it – and they will get a big problem proving you wrong.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

When following children around, either it is by foot or with your car, or by following school buses, it is better to loose them a couple of times instead of following them too close and apparent – since the latter might reveal your true goal. So always stay as far behind as possible and try to avoid using any repetitive patterns.

To sum it up: firstly find a child love candidate. Then try to learn its walking path to and from school. And finally try to find his or her house and home address.

Sad and lonely children are the number one candidates, because these are very apparent and easy to find. But you also have children that do not look sad or lonely, but they still lack parental care or adult attention. These latter ones can be hard to find, since they will not show their problems that apparently, thus you might want to search for default children too – not only the lonely ones. So it could be wise to first try to find the sad and lonely ones, and if you do not find anyone, try to pick a random child that looks like having the personality and the looks that you prefer.

If you think this advanced surveillance is a bit too much or too risky, like if you are very cautious by nature or a first timer in the field, please note that you do not need to do all this to find a child. Just by driving or walking around in any community, town or city, you will sooner or later find a child – because they are everywhere. This will definitely be the safest and most easy way, but also the way that might take the longest time to find that perfect child, since you must rely on pure luck alone. But there are lots of child lovers in the field who have found children in this way too – some have even found a child by just looking out of their home windows.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Children tend to have secret places too, like a secret spot inside a forest, either alone or with several children, where they temporally escape from adult supervision. These spots are especially important to find, especially regarding the sad and lonely children who are often to be found at such places all alone – and indirectly just wait for a new friend or an adult to take care of them and love them.

Sooner or later, you will find a child love candidate outdoors, either you search at the schools, general Children Hot-Spots, or just drive or walk around anywhere where there are families and children.

In general, just try to be creative and try to look all around you. In the same time, stay as discreet and safe as possible while being ready for both positive and negative surprises.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Approaching a child

Before you can approach a child, you must first find one. By now you have learned a lot about where to and how to find a child. Therefore, we will now assume that you have found a child and that you want to approach that child and make contact.

When you are about to make the first contact, it is crucial that you act calm, friendly and innocent. By being a true paedophile, this should be very easy since children generally like kind paedophiles and their attitude. This is because every paedophile has a little child inside him or her, and this is something that all children sense with their very sensitive emotions. Hence why it is a well known phenomena that children feel such big comfort among paedophiles.

We will start by looking at the safest option on how to approach an unknown child outdoors – but on another hand, this might require strong patience and some courage, not to mention some luck too.

During the surveillance, if you have seen and located a sad, lonely and friend seeking child, or any child for that matter, who has a secret place that he or she goes to alone, then you have really hit the jackpot. Even though this seems kind of unlikely at this point, we can promise you that there are a lot of such lonesome children who have such secret places or runaways to play at or be alone at.

Be careful and explore the child's secret place in advance when the child is not there. The place should ideally be private and undisturbed with no tracks, paths or roads nearby that can see you.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

As soon as an opportunity opens, you can approach that child as carefully and friendly as possible while the child is there.

Remember the importance of having a dog here. A wise thing to do first would be to just say hello there in a friendly way and then maybe ask for his or her name. You should tell your name too, but for security reasons you might want to use a nickname, like Joe.

If that child is friend or adult seeking, things should go very well and smooth. But it is very important that you both feel comfortable together, so use this quality time to get to know each other. Do not worry if the child is a bit shy or insecure, just try to act gently, slack and not too engaged – and then see how things go and develop.

If things seem to work very well between you, then you can ask the child if he or she would like to meet you again another time. This will be an important question, because now you will see how the child really feels about your presence and friendship.

If you should notice that the child feels very uncomfortable by having you there, or if the child should want to leave, or it does not want you to meet again, then you should strongly consider saying goodbye – and then try to find another child.

Most of these scenarios work out well, even though they are rare, because the child will be a lonely soul and be seeking for friends or adults to begin with.

The next time you meet, you can just start on the creation of a special and secret relationship and friendship – something you will be reading all about later in this section.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

There is another method of approaching a preselected child. Though, this approach is less secure in overall, but then again it does not require that much of courage either. Here you will actually be able to just practice, with no risks what so ever, if you are new to this and/or a bit cautious by nature.

This method is an alternative to the previous one if you should find a sad and lonely child, but the child does not seem to have a secret place or a hideout. This will work on any type of kids, by the way. It is based on making the first contact look like a coincidence - like when you are not approaching a child actively nor directly, but rather meet accidentally on a path that the child travels on by feet or bike regularly. This can be a very neat way in general to find that perfect child who are searching for an loving adult, just as you are searching for a loving child in your life.

This option needs some preparations to work fully. Since this child does not seem to have a secret place, you will first need to find one in advance of the first approach and meeting. So when you are surveying a child of your choice, it is important that you find a location not too far from that child's home or school that is hidden and undisturbed. This will be the location and secret place where you will meet later on after the first approach.

It is also important to have your car hidden or parked not far from that location the same day and time you are about meet there. It is also recommended to have a GPS unit that is preprogrammed with an instant escape route that is not too oblivious - and let the GPS take you safely away from that area if you should need to escape.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

This method will require a lot of surveillance and planning too – because not only will you need to find a suitable location for the approach, but you will also need to wait for the child to get to that location in the same time as you are there. Another important thing is to only approach the child if the child is alone and when there are no other people around that might see you. If one of the latter should be a problem, do not panic or be bold, just try again later.

The whole idea is to pretend, as in role play, that you have lost something important of yours – and then try to lure the child away from the path so both of you get temporally away from plain view. Most ideally you should be totally out of anyone's view.

Surveillance is the key for this option – as soon as you find an interesting or a suitable child to approach, and as soon as you know where that child is traveling by feet or bike, you will need to find a spot on that particular route for where to encounter that child.

It would be very beneficial to find a spot along the child's route that is hidden from plain view and preferably with very few by passers. Most ideally you should find a road or path with thick woods at each side, making the country side a neat area to search in general – and why we do not recommend the urban cities to do this. It does not have to be thick woods along the path either, it can also be a variation in the terrain that makes you able to leave the path at one side, or both, and disappear from plain view. Or it can be a hiding object there, like an abandoned building or farm nearby, big rocks, or anything that you can hide behind to get temporary alone with the child on the first meeting and approach.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

You might look at this as very difficult and hard to achieve, but then again we get back to the importance of patience. It might take a while to make all this fit, but it will be worth the patience when you finally one day make it. Though, patience is not always required, since many paedophiles have found a good child love candidate and a suitable location for approach pretty fast too. And with our previous advices taken into consideration, like finding sad and lonely kids, and using a dog, this might be easier than you think.

We are talking about a route here, ideally a small track or path without much of human traffic on it, which the child uses either to and from school, to and from training, to and from friends, or etc. The most convenient for you would be to find a path that the child uses regularly – and especially at predictable and static times.

Where do we go from here, after having done all the preparations?

You will of course need to get to the ideal spot before the child does and just wait there or walk repeatedly up and down the path. It could be wise to start at once when you get there with the role play and pretend that you are looking for something along the road. In this way, you will have a perfectly good explanation if anyone should confront you – and it will in general make it more credible.

It is important that you pretend to have lost something of real value, like a set of keys or a wallet, or anything creative like that. And of course, you will give a salary to anyone who finds it so the child gets motivated to help you search – even off the path.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Sooner or later, the child will come traveling along the path – and then you will be left with two choices:

1. Stay safe and do not approach the child, just start on the role play and make sure that the child sees that you are really looking for something. If the child is adult seeking, or just curious by nature, he or she might stop and contact you.

If this should happen, not only will most of the hard work already be done, but it will also be a security insurance, since then you will know that the child will be very dedicated to you as in being interested and/or friend or adult seeking.

2. Be a little more bold and approach the child if the child does not stop and/or does not take any interest in your role play. You might just say hello and tell the child that you have lost something important of yours.

Now the risk of failure is considerably higher, and it will not be as easy to know if the child is interested in you or not. Therefore, the first choice is recommended for inexperienced and cautious child lovers – especially first timers.

It might just happen that the child does not want to have anything to do with you, or it might look like that. If that happens, we strongly recommend that you find a new child by either change the location or choose a completely different place. Some kids have been thought by their parents to be aware of strangers that make contact – and if this is the reason for the child rejecting your approach, then you might save yourself from trouble by leaving.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

When you manage to make contact with a child, and if you have not done so already, you must first tell the child that you are looking for something that you have lost – something important and valuable. If the child asks what you have lost, tell about it and then ask if the child would like to come with you and search. If the child does not ask, still tell about it and ask for help to find it. The most important thing is to add that he or she will get a reward if it is found.

Since you have picked a discreet spot, both of you should be able to disappear from the track or path while searching together for the false lost object. So suggest that you would like to look a little bit off the path, and just start to walk toward the discreet location. If the child does not seem to like getting off the path with you, just tell that it is okay and just continue to walk – maybe he or she will re-decide when seeing that you act kindly and is not threatening.

Be aware if the child uses a bike – and if so, try to hide it from other possible by passers before you start to search off the path. Tell the child that you do not want his or her bike to get stolen, so you either take it with you or help the child hiding it from plain view.

Now you are moving toward the more risky part of this option. Thus it is crucial to time this well and be observant, and make sure that no one see you getting off the path. There are no laws against talking to children, but as soon as you and the child starts to walk into a forest or off any path or road together, you are suddenly overstepping a boundary that would be hard to explain if caught. Therefore, take a last good look right before you and the child goes off the path and try to get out of sight as soon as you can – making it wise to choose a path with a short way to the discreet location.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Please note that when we now talk about the discreet location, we are not talking about the hidden place that you have found in advance – we are talking about a discreet location along the route for you to speak with the child at during this first encounter.

As soon as you get alone, or at least at a safe distance from the route and away from glancing eyes, use all the time available to talk to the child and be friendly. Try to find out if you have a good chemistry and confidence between each other. It is important that you both feel well together and can talk easily, since communication is the primarily tool that you have with this guide.

Do not drag this too long so you alert any adults who might expect the child, unless you know that the child will not be excepted by anyone for a while. This will differ a lot by the age of the child – older and more independent children will give you more time to do the role play and hang out together afterward.

The purpose of this encounter and meeting is to start to build a trustful relationship, so you will obviously need to meet the child again so you can start creating the relationship itself.

Make sure that you suddenly find the object as a part of the role play and act happy about it. Then tell the child that he or she will still get the reward since he or she was so kind to help you find it.

As soon as the child gets the reward, tell the child that you think he or she is such a kind, great and cool person that you would like to meet again at another place – and that you would like to show him or her a special and secret place of yours.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

This will be the ultimate test: either the child will agree to your suggestion, or it will not. If the child agrees – like if you have found a friend and/or adult seeking child, or just a child that likes you – then you have found your child love candidate. If not, leave him or her kindly, and then try to find another child at another place.

If the child agrees to meet you at your secret location, you must then arrange a meeting at a certain time at the place you have prepared in advance.

The most important thing now, and before you separate, is to ask the child to keep all of this a secret so no one else will find your magic and secret place – not even to friends. Emphasize that the child must not to tell his or her parents about any of this, because they will not allow the two of you to meet later.

So there you go, now you have found a child love candidate, and everything should be set to start creating a special relationship.

Let us just emphasize that you are now about to take a significant risk, since you will now need to trust the child and trust that he or she does not tell about this. So if you are able to supervise the area a good while before you are about to meet, from a safe position, in case the parents or even the police should get there, do it. Though, if you should get caught, as in worst scenario, you have actually not done anything illegal yet other than meeting a child as a special friend – so it should be pretty darn difficult to lock you up. But still, be aware and stay safe. This will definitely be your highest adrenalin kick ever.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

This usually goes well, especially if you met a child who stopped and made contact with you at its own will – and if you in addition sensed an excitement within the child while suggesting to meet. So this is why it is such important to find children who really need friends and/or adults in their lives. They can really be trusted. Hence why option 1 on page 68 is the very safest option to choose.

So the whole idea with all this is first to find a child, then create a relationship, and finally meet repeatedly at a secret place together. Hence why it is so important to use surveillance and stalking. You might find children just by chance too – and then you will need to find such a secret place afterwards if the child seems to like you.

Those of you who are searching for and meeting children by having them come to your own home, either randomly or because you have lured them there, will obviously not need to approach nor confront anyone actively, but rather have the meeting happen very naturally by itself and motivated by the child – hence logically being much easier and much more convenient than searching outdoors. You will not under these circumstances, nor if you search outdoors in your own neighborhood, need to have a secret place outside either, but rather invite the children inside our own home and start to build the relationship from there – and finally start on the steps.

Though it is a bit more riskier to do these things within your own home and local community, compared to those of you who travel and thus having a bigger room for escape and a decent distance to your homes. But generally spoken, neither have to be that risky after all if things are done correctly – as this guide is teaching.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Creating a relationship from scratch

Before you can safely start to practice sex with a child, you must first build a very important base, being a close friendship with trust. Such a friendship is so crucial, because it will firstly make the child trust you and let you come within his or her personal borders, like being able to hug, kiss, touch and cuddle without making the child feel any discomfort. Secondly, it will make the child appreciate you, respect you, and most importantly respect the special and intimate secret that you finally will be sharing together.

The more dependent the child is on you, like finding a very sad and very lonely child who seeks friends and/or adult attention, and sticks to you like glue from the very first meeting, the more likely you will succeed creating such a relationship and keeping it secure. So it is really important to find children who really like you and/or really need you.

Now you should be at the point of where you have made contact with a child that you feel comfortable with, and you feel that this comfort goes both ways, so everything is ready to start building this very important friendship and relationship. So we will now go through some easy steps on how to do this, because this is actually not that comprehensive nor time consuming at all. This will more or less make itself happen without any difficulties or hard work from neither of you. This is how most friendship works – it is like going downhill and just letting the gravity pull you in the right direction. But you will of course still need to steer a little bit and make some small adjustments on the way.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Some of you might already have a close friendship with a child, with all the trust that you will ever need, but we still recommend that you read through this section regardless. There might still be some things that might come in handy before you start on practicing sex and erotic love with your little spouse and honeybee.

As soon as you have a date with a future spouse alone, the first and main thing to do is to build trust and comfort both ways, and do this over time with self discipline and patience. It is so important to take things slowly and not rush it by starting to sexually touch or cuddle with the child at once. This is just as important even though if the child should allow you to cuddle close together. You may hug and cuddle together, or tickle each other and flirt, if the child wants to, but no sexual acts or moves at this point. It will finally be worth all the self discipline and patience putted into this when the day comes to start on the practical sexual steps of this guide.

One huge advantage is, as soon as possible, to make sure that the child knows how dedicated and faithful you are to him or her. Children are simple beings with a simple look on things, so if you bring them a nice gift – it might be just some cheap jewelry or anything small that shines and look nice – you will melt their hearts and ensure them that you really like them. Children can be easily charmed with gifts – so it would be a nice move to bring such a gift at your very first true date.

Further you must make sure that you generally show a high interest in the child and making the child the center of your universe – but that should not be that difficult anyway.

WHERE DO I FIND A CHILD?

Survey, approach and create a relationship

Also make sure that they immediately learn that you are a safe and trustworthy adult who has a loose, worryless and kind attitude. Be very kind, humble and let the child be more or less in charge. Never try to convince or put any pressure on a child who does not want to do what you want to do – you will want to give the child a lot of control and space to feel safe as your special friend.

And this is it, really. You will pretty soon discover how things develop, and you can do all this without braking any laws in most parts of the world. If you have found that special child, it will be very easy to build this base and close relationship.

How long you should work on this base is unfortunately hard to say. This is because there are too many different situations and children out there to be able to make one predictable rule. You will really need to feel your way trough this one yourself and be independent. Such independence is more or less required all the way trough this education, so you will need to think just as much by yourself as we are teaching you. But it might actually not take that long in general, since most of these sad and lonely children will be just as motivated to be your friend as you are motivated to love them – thus these kids will pretty fast let you enter their lonely lives and magic worlds – also known as the Children Fairytale Kingdoms, consisting of magics, fantasy, curiosity, childishness, sex and love.

Be patient – the picture on the right is the reward for your patience.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Introduction

Welcome to the practical steps!

Before you can begin on the most important journey of your life – that is establishing what might be your very first sexual relationship with a sweet little child, in the comfort of knowing that the child will not get hurt by it, while staying safe regarding the laws, and that both of you will experience something enormously powerful and intimate together called true love – we will first take some time to write a little bit about how this chapter is set up and how it will point you toward and guide you all the way through heaven itself.

This chapter is going to educate you about how to start a sexual relationship with an innocent little child who you have a friendship with in real life, by using a step-by-step guide. These steps are made by a group of specialists who have created this guide to prevent damage on the children, and other negative consequences for both parties, which might happen during such relationships in general if not being done in the right way.

An important requirement for this chapter is to have a secret place for you and your little lover to do these steps together. It should be at an anonymous and discreet location or at a place where you know that you will be alone and not get disturbed during these sessions.

Please do not start on these steps immediately, you should first read through this education at least once in advance. Actually, you should read through it twice before doing anything in real life. You should also highlight or take notes of all the important tips and warnings that you have learned.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Introduction

Up to this chapter, we have been talking about children and life, facts and philosophy, and you now have the basic knowledge about how to find a child and establish a relationship together. Therefore you should now be ready to be guided through this practical and physical part with an actual child in your life – if you should have it. Even if you do not have a child in your life yet, this will still educate you and should be much enjoyable to take part of regardless.

This chapter is made with five main practical steps. Each main step will contain a set of instructions for you to put into practice with a real child of yours. This chapter will work as a practical manual for teaching a child about everything there is to know about sex – and that sex is completely harmless, fun and very enjoyable. It will also give you, the adult, the opportunity to create and establish a safe sexual relationship with any child. All this is known as child love.

Each one of these steps and sections are literally illustrated with a text story to make you see how this could work in practice with added unexpectedness and unpredictables. This will make it much easier and safer for you when taking this education into a real life scenario with a real child.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Introduction

Do not be nervous about this – these steps are created carefully by professionals and are made so that the child will gradually learn and get used to this kind of human interaction and intimacy.

It does not matter if you are a male or a female, or if it is a boy or a girl child who you are about to practice child love with. This can be used in any situation or place where you have a positive and trusty relationship with any child.

Though, these steps are optimized for little girls and little boys in the age of approximately 5. This is the most ideal age to start educating children about sex – since then they will be old enough to understand secrecy, and they will be young enough to not yet been socialized into our modern society that tries to brainwash the children to believe that sex is harmful and shameful. So the younger the children get from this ideal age, the harder it will be for them to keep this a secret. And the older they get, the harder it will be to do these steps because they might be sexually brainwashed.

It is very important that you do these steps in the right order and do not skip any of them if you get impatient. And it is just as important to understand these steps fully and do exactly as you are told. By not following the right order or skipping any parts of these steps, you might put both yourself and the child at general risk.

These steps are made so that if the child does not want to practice child love with you, it will leave long before it actually gets sexual – so the legal risk factor is close to zero for both of you. This is thanks to child psychology, pedagogy, science and real life experience.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Introduction

The child used in the illustrated stories is a blond five year old preschool girl named Emilie who usually wears pigtails. The adult is a muscular male with dark short hair who is the little girl's stepfather who met her mom some while ago. So from now on, we will be talking about an adult male and a five year old girl while educating and illustrating. Though, and as already been written, this guide is universal and can be applied to most similar situations with children of different ages and genders.

Just some last words of philosophy before we actually begin:

If you are a true paedophile, then you got the greatest gift on earth! Adults can be beautiful, certainly. But a child is even more beautiful! Because children are very special. They are small like dolls, innocent and pure like salt of the earth, clean and round, fresh and pink, and they make us go “aw” all the time. Children are harmless, they do not judge you, they do not care about your looks, they only care about your inside, they do not care about your social status or your money, they do not have a second agenda, they just love you fully and truly regardless – unconditionally and genuine. They always smell sweet, they are always soft like velvet – they are true living dolls. No adult can beat that! And many of them need you and are waiting for you and your unique love toward them as we speak. You must find these angles with broken wings, and just love them as you were born to and put into this world to do.

Happy educating, from the theme!

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

We will presume that you now have a child in your life who you love, and that he or she loves you back and feels secure about you. If you have just recently met, we want to remind you about the importance of building a trustful friendship over a certain period of time. The longer time you spend building up this friendship, the more likely you will succeed. The amount of time to do this is very difficult to say, since all such relationships are very different from each other – as the kids are very different from each other too. You will need to feel your way through this one and use your gut and common sense. In most cases, it goes just fine.

The practical steps

As soon as you are at your secret location with your little spouse, and you are meeting again to spend some time together and have fun, make sure that you are all alone and undisturbed for at least 30 minutes or so. Then make yourselves comfortable by sitting down at a decent spot. You should now sit in front of the child, face to face, so you will communicate well together.

The very first thing you will need to do is to introduce a new game to your special friend. What you are about to call this game is very important, because children might decide if they will or will not play a game judging by the name alone – we also have the importance of a good first impression. Therefore you will call it: The Love Game. When a child hears a name like that, it will first of all feel it as a safe game, but it will also get really curious about it, since there are just no games in the whole world with that special name. If you are unsure about naming the game, in case the child is very young or it might slip its tongue in the future, you may just call it a game.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

The most important part of this session is to establish the secrecy. This game needs to be a secret and the child needs to understand that. Do not continue until you know for sure that the child is aware of this and understands this fully.

While you are announcing the new game, tell the child that this game has to be a secret if she wants to play it. Then ask the child if she knows what a secret is. Most children from the age of five and above should know – regardless, tell the child about what a secret is and that this game needs to be such a secret. Do not act serious or gloomy while doing this, or show any sort of authority, just try to act calm, kind and positive.

As soon as you have told the child about what a secret is, it is very important to highlight that a game does not need to be bad or wrong just because it is a secret. Some children might look at any sort of secret as something bad and shameful – so tell the child that a secret just makes a thing very special.

Then you will have to tell a little bit about the game, but do not tell everything at once. Children need to digest information more slowly than adults, so just be general at this point and feed the child only with small spoons of information. Like tell the little one that this game is magic, special and completely safe to play – and highlight that the children are the ones who decide everything and that they can stop the game whenever they want to.

Finally, ask the child if she would like to play this game with you.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Now – read the fictional illustration.

This illustration is pure literature and will show you a random sample of this step in practice based on true stories from real life scenarios. You are obligated to read this during this education to make sure that you know how to handle some potential surprises and see how this step could turn out in real life.

A five year old girl, named Emilie, is playing in her room one late evening.
She's a blond little blue eyed beauty with pigtails on.
The door to her room opens slowly, and her stepfather, Joe, enters a little bit anxious.

Emilie?

He asks carefully.

Yes?

She turns her head fast toward him and smiles.

Do you want to come with me and sit on the rug for a moment? I wants to talk to you about something exciting.

Okay! I'm coming!

She leaves her toys and goes the the middle of her room where there's a round little rug ... along with Joe, her stepfather.

They're sitting themselves comfortably down on the rug toward each other.

They're all alone in the house this late evening.

Joe knows about a very special and magic game. It's called the love game. This is a game that adults and children can play together.

But it's a very special game, so it has to be a secret if you want to play it. Do you know what a secret is, my beautiful Emilie?

Yes.

She looks up at Joe with excitement in her face and in her voice.

A secret is something that you can't tell anyone!

That's right, my earth angel. A secret is something that only two people share together, and they can't tell it to anyone. But a secret doesn't have to be bad just because we can't tell anyone. When we make something a secret, that something gets really special and valuable, because only two people know about it. Do you understand that?

Yes, I understand that.

Well ... this game that I'm talking about is a very special game where the children decide everything and they can stop the game whenever they want to. The adults must ask for permission to do things, and the children decide if the adults are allowed to or not.

And the game is not dangerous or frightening ... it's called the love game because two people who love each other can play it.

So ... since we love each other, we can play that game. Do you want to play this game with me, beautiful princess?

Yes. I would like to do that.

She has a very curious face at this moment.

Maybe you would like to play it right now, if you want to?

Okay!

Her curious face ends up with a faint smile.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Hooray! Your very first milestone has been reached!

That was not so difficult, was it? As long as the child likes you and trusts you, or loves you dearly, she will only get excited by this new and mysterious game. Children just love to play games – and a child will quickly realize that this game is something else when an adult talks like this and being pretty unspecific and mysterious.

So we have now introduced the new game to the child – and you have hopefully managed to fire up some excitement in her too. Thus we are now ready to make the first physical contact.

The first step is all about the first physical contact. Since sex is primarily physical – at least it will feel so for the children – we need to first teach the child to get used to and appreciate physical contact with an adult way before any sexual contact and seducing.

Even though if you know the child well and you have been cuddling a lot together, even hugged and kissed, do this anyway. Because you do want the child to get a secure feeling about this game – and the child will link this first impression to all your future actions.

This careful approach is very important, since most children will get scared if you start immediately to seduce them sexually – and then they might just freeze to ice and get permanently scared about it.

If you do not know the child that well, or if you have not been cuddled any together, make sure that you take things really slow. Going on too fast or intense here might scare the child away – and maybe destroy any chance of having sex with her permanently.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Where do we start on the child?

Children are very sensitive to physical contact, especially if they are not used to it. The most sensitive part on the child is its head and face – so do not, in any circumstances, start off by kissing the child on her face or on her lips, since that might cause rejection or fright.

So you want to start out by touching and kissing the least sensitive part of the child, the part furthest away from the face and head, and that is the feet.

We know that the feet are actually a very sensitive part of the child. But when we are talking about sensitivity in this case, we are talking about the psychological sensitivity toward closeness to other humans – especially adults. Since their heads obviously have sight, hearing and taste, they will feel any closeness to that part as very close – and for some, it is too close if they are not used to your or any close physical contact. Thus why we are now going to first focus on the child's feet that are furthest away from the head.

This is playing safe, and it should be done at first regardless of the relationship you have with your little spouse.

As you watched in the literature, Joe asked Emilie at the end if she wanted to play the game right away. You do not need to play it right away – it might be that you do not have the time for it or is very unsure about all this – but we recommend doing it. If you should need or want to split the session here, we recommend that you do the whole step again, from the beginning, the next time you meet.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Starting the game for the first time

Before you begin the game, try to find a prop that the child can sit on, like a big cushion or a soft chair that is comfortable, so that you can sit on the floor or on the ground in front of the child with easy and comfortable access to the child's feet. This is not required for this step and session to be completed though, in case you should not have access to any of this – this is only a recommendation.

Start the game by telling the child that this game is all about touching each other and playing with our bodies, and doing this in a way that feels very special, good and exciting for both. Also repeat to the child that the children are the ones who are in charge and decide everything in this game.

Then ask the child gently if you are allowed to play with her feet.

This will sound very harmless and fun, so the child will most likely allow you to do it. If the child has socks or any footwear on, you must also ask the child if you are allowed to take it all off.

As soon as you get your hands on the feet, start off by just studying them while complimenting them. If you have not taken a close look at children feet yet, they will definitely feel cute and special.

This easy start is important for the child's feeling of trust and security toward you and this new game. The child will probably giggle a lot during this session, because of tickling on the feet, but this will just give the child a very positive first impression.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Just play with her bare feet for a little while and just feel them gently with your hands all over – but stay at her feet only for now.

After a couple of minutes or so, start to feel her feet erotically. If you are unsure about what that means, just feel them slowly and gently while you are smiling at the child and making a kind and romantic eye contact. Then start to feel the lower leg under her knees too, but not above her knees during this session.

After a couple of minutes or so with some erotic feeling of her feet and lower leg, and some sexy eye contact, you can carefully ask the child for permission to hug and kiss her feet. Since the feet feel mentally distant to the child, you should get permission to do this.

Warning! (This is really important!)

This kind of touching, kissing and licking is fated to make a sexual tension inside you – especially if you are a paedophile newbie. This means that you already, at this early point, will need to start thinking about self control and self discipline. We can promise you that this will only get harder from now on.

What we are saying here is: do not masturbate in hide or breathe heavily, or in any way act unusual at this point. You do not want to scare the child away. Even the child itself might feel a sexual tension in her body when you are feeling and kissing her feet in this way. She might already be known to masturbating and sexual feelings. So even if she invites you to feel her at other places, or even see her genital, you still need the self discipline at this point and tell her that we maybe can do that later.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Just start off by slowly hugging her foot while you smile at her. Then start very carefully to kiss the toes. Try to read the child's face while doing this: if you sense any negative reactions, stop at once. If the child still smiles and looks well, you may start kissing the foot underneath it. Probably a lot of giggling is to be heard.

After a lot of kissing, start carefully using your tongue to lick the foot that you are holding. Make the kisses more present and less discreet – and finally start to suck on her toes while you continue to read the child's face and her reactions to what you are doing.

You really need to feel your way through this step, because children are very different from each other. In most cases, this goes just fine without any problems or rejections. Just be careful not to eat the foot up at once – just kiss, suck and lick it gently and increasingly.

It might be difficult to hold the feet still if the child feels tickling, because then she might retract her feet while giggling. Just be patient and do not hold the feet with any force, just try to make it all a very funny and laughing part of this new and exciting game.

Work on the feet for about five minutes or so from there – but not much longer. After the time is up, try to naturally shut the game down by telling the child that the game is over for now. If the child insists on having the feet licked more, do not hesitate. As we have been into before: the children decide everything in this game.

If the child wants to know why the game stopped, you can tell the child that this is how the game works, and the next time you play, something new and exciting will happen.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Now – read the fictional illustration.

This illustration is pure literature and will show you a random sample of this step in practice based on true stories from real life scenarios. You are obligated to read this during this education to make sure that you know how to handle some potential surprises and see how this step could turn out in real life.

Before Joe confronted little Emilie with the new game, he had in advance bought a squared cushion that's approximately 2.5 feet high. He surprises Emilie by taking it into her room.

Wow! Is that for me?

She asks with surprise and a happy face.

Yes ... and this is going to be our special cushion for our new game.

Joe puts it down on the floor ... and Emilie begins immediately to investigate it.

Are you ready to start the new game now?

Yes, I'm ready.

She turns toward him and is very engaged.

Okay ... cool.

He sits himself down in front of her so he gets down on her physical level.

Okay, princess. This game is all about touching and feeling each other, and playing with our bodies, so it feels nice and special.

And as you remember, the children are the ones who decide everything because they're the smallest, so the grownups aren't allowed to be in charge when we play. This is a rule. So therefore I'm now going to ask for your permission: am I allowed to play with your feet? Yes.

She gets a little bit confused, but still excited and smiles.

Okay ... nice. If you sit yourself down on the cushion toward me, I can start to play with your feet.

Emilie jumps up on the cushion, and she now sits on top of it toward Joe with her feet in their sandals dangling in front of him.

Why do you want to play with my feet, Joe?

Because they're so special and beautiful ... just like you are.

Am I allowed to take off your sandals and socks?

Yes.

Emilie still being excited, and raises her feet toward him.

Joe gently takes off one sandal ... and then the other. At last, he pulls off both her socks.

Then he has two cute little nude children feet in front of him.

You need to understand something, my beautiful Emilie, that children are very special. So are these feet. They're so soft and cute, and I just can't wait to start playing with them.

Is it going to tickle?

Emilie smiles widely.

It might tickle a bit, but you should just relax now, because you remember that this game is all about touching each other so it feels good and fun ... okay?

Okay.

Joe is just feeling her feet gently with his hands at first, while Emilie is biting on her lower lip and looks at him.

Eventually he starts to feel her feet in a sensual way ... the giggling begins carefully.

It feels good ... I like it.

He's touching and feeling the lower leg and foot now ... slowly, erotic and caring.

Emilie? Am I allowed to carefully hug and kiss your cute little feet?

Okay.

She giggles.

He carefully kisses her right foot while he looks at her facial expression ... but there's nothing to worry about, she's smiling widely and giggling with her little girl voice.

Then he sticks his tongue out and starts to lick her toes ... and eventually licks underneath the foot ... while still carefully monitoring her feelings.

She doesn't seem to mind this at all, so he starts on the more intense part of the foot play.

Eventually he has half her foot inside his mouth while sucking on it really good.

But suddenly things start to get a little bit too hot and he begins to feel a sexual tension build up inside him. He knows that it's time to cool it down and quit the game for now.

Joe, you're eating my foot!

She's speaks with a giggling voice.

Dear God! I've never tasted something as sweet, cute and soft as a child's foot before!

It's still there, Emilie, I only tasted it. And now I've fallen in love with these two little ones.

He hugs her left foot while holding them both and feeling them gently.

Well ... that's it for now. The game is over for now. But we can play it again tomorrow, or anytime soon, if you want to ... and then we can try do do new and exciting things together, like this?

Okay.

Emilie has that rare pleasant look in her face ... a face Joe hasn't seen before. Maybe she felt something too?

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Congratulations – the first step is done!

Now the child can have some time to think about what just happened, think of the positive feelings and all the fun she had, and she will most probably not be able to wait until next time – which is the second step, by the way.

What we are doing here is taking things step-by-step, hence the name of this education. You are building up trust and mystics, erotic excitement and love, piece by piece, in the child's mind.

If you sensed any kind of unsureness within the child during play, or if you do not know the child that well yet, then we recommend that you repeat this step one more time, or even several times, until the child seems safe about this. If not, you can just move on.

How long to wait before going to Step 2?

A day or so should do it. The child will then have some time to think about and digest what just happened – and the waiting will work as a teaser too. It does not matter if you need to wait a bit longer than one or two days, but if you wait several days, or even weeks, it would be best to go through the first step one more time before you continue on the next one – as in doing both steps in one session.

If you do not want to lick the feet, you actually do not have to. But it is strongly recommended though, since it will be an important part and start of this step-by-step education. And there should be no real problems regarding licking children feet – every paedophile should want to do that and enjoy it enormously.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 1 (The first physical contact)

Remember, when the game is over, to remind the child about the game being a very secret between only you and her. So now you have told the child about this three times, and it therefore should stick for a while – at least until the next time.

This might frighten you a bit, but we do need to inform you about it: Children might know what a secret is and that they need to keep it between only the two of you. But some children might think that telling other people that they have a secret is okay, as long as they do not tell the secret itself. Obviously, this might raise red flags among other adults, hearing that you have a secret but do not know what it is because the child refuses to tell about it. Therefore you might want to consider talking a little bit deeper about secrecy with the child, like highlighting that no one can know that you have a secret to begin with. It all depends on the child's intelligence and age. Still though, you have not done anything illegal at this point. And you will not be doing anything illegal for a decent while either. So you will pretty soon see how this issue will turn out. Just so you are warned and prepared.

You should also be aware of the fact that any long term secrecy is highly unpredictable in any situation. In other words: it is impossible to know what the child might do with this secret when he or she gets older toward youth and adulthood. But this guide is made in a way that makes child love very consenting, harmless and beautiful. So it is unlikely that this will be a problem if things are done right.

We hope that you and your little friend had a good time and much of fun together with this step. And we wish you all the best on the second one. We will be seeing you there.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

Welcome back! So you are ready for the second step?

We are now going to take the first step a little bit further, but not too far though. As you have previously learned, our primary intention is to make sure that the child is safe and feels safe during its small steps into a big world of lust and sexuality – and toward the final goal of making love for the first time.

We will start off by first telling a little bit about this step:

This step is about closing into the more sensitive parts of the child. We have already made the first physical contact, so the child is now used to such contact with an adult as an exciting and funny game, so therefore she will not get any big surprises during this step.

We are still going to play with the child's body, without braking any laws yet, and taste it while we are on our way to heaven itself.

Before we start on the actions that you are going to do in this step, you should be aware of one important thing:

If you sensed, or still sense, any kind of insecurity within the child, please repeat the the first step one more time or as many times as it takes for the child to get more secure about this. Since every child and every relationship is different from each other, the tempo that you will need to follow might be some different from this guide. If you should be insecure about if you should repeat it or not, it is much better to repeat that step, exactly as it is, rather than moving on while the child might not be ready for it. Repeating step 1 will be an insurance regardless, unless you are completely sure about this.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

We who have made this guide have a responsibility toward the children, but so have you who are putting it into practice. Please be careful and sensitive toward the little angel doll of yours.

In the last step you introduced a new game to your little friend and you played that game for the first time. You felt and tasted the child's feet, and we bet the child liked it just as much as you did. We are now going to another part of the child, but we are still going to do the same actions as in the last step - more or less.

As you remember from Step 1, we said that the most psychological sensitive part of the child is its head and face. Therefore we started at the feet that are furthest away. Now we will be concentrating on the arms - and maybe we will get our hands on the tummy too if the child wants to go that far. We cannot see any good reasons for the latter to be a problem, unless the child is a bit insecure.

The practical steps

The next time you meet and are all alone together at your secret or preferred location, and that you have at least 30 minutes of undisturbed time together, ask the child if she would like to play the game again today.

Now you will need something for the child to lay down on, like a bed or a couch. It is important that the child rests during this step and feels safe and comfortable in your hands. Though, as before, this prop is actually not needed for this step to work out. Just make sure that the child rests comfortably down on its back wherever you are.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

Remind the child about the important rule that the children are the ones who decide and can stop the game whenever they want to. You should actually do this at the start of each step, regardless of being a repetition of a step or a brand new step.

Tell the child that the last time you played this game, you were playing with her feet – but now you want to play with her arms. Tell her that you would really like to feel them, smell them, and maybe kiss them carefully if you are allowed to. If she should ask why you want to do this, because that might happen, just tell her that her arms are just as special as her cute and beautiful feet. Compliments always help and should be used during these steps.

If the child consents, ask for permission to undress her so her upper body gets nude – but nothing more of course.

The child might actually react negatively to undressing. If she does, ask to only take off her sweater and leave her t-shirt on. Or just ask her if she would like to pull up the arms of her sweater, if she looks very insecure about this. If she is already in a t-shirt, you really do not need to undress her at all. But this might be a good time to just test her a bit and see how far she is willing to go. In most cases, the child will not mind at all undressing her upper body.

If the child should ask if she should take off her pants too, or even get all naked, because the child might already feel that she is ready for this, just say that we maybe can do that later.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

Now you should have a half nude child in front of you. That is not bad considering that we are only on the beginning of Step 2 and have not broken any laws yet – in most parts of the world at least.

Remember what we have talked about earlier when it comes to self discipline – having a half nude child in front of you in this setting might fill you with sexual lust. And it might get even worse when you begin on her arms. As before: do not masturbate while doing this. Act natural and usual, and try to hold off until later. Also try not to shake or breathe heavily. If you think that this will be too hard to do without getting too horny, you should consider masturbating right before this step to calm yourself down – as an insurance.

Even the child might be sexually aware and active, so she might want to go further at this point too. But still, just follow the guide. If this happens, just say that we maybe can do that later – that will boost the security and trust that she already has toward you.

Begin the game by feeling her hand a little, and then touch her arm carefully upwards until you get to her shoulder. Then go down again – and repeat this for a while, up and down. Feel her in an erotic and loving way. She will instinctively know that this is erotic.

After a couple of minutes of feeling her arm, lift the arm up some and smell on it. Smell it in the same way as you just felt her arm.

You might want to ask the child for permission before smelling and kissing it, even though the child already has consisted. This will make the child feel as much safe and secure as possible, thus make the ride to heaven go as smooth as possible.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

After a minute or so of smelling her arm, you can begin to kiss it very gently and carefully.

Kiss carefully and shallowly at the beginning. Try to read her face while kissing it, as we have been into before, to see how she reacts to this. Kiss in the same way as you touched and smelled it.

If she signals a negative reaction to this, just continue feeling her arm with your hands a little longer before you try again. If that does not help, shut the game down slowly and naturally, and redo this step the next time you play.

If she signals a positive reaction to the kissing, or being neutral, you can taste the arm a bit further and less shallowly – try to lick it and get a real good taste of this little doll arm.

If you are really careful and know that the child feels very positive about this, you can also try to smell a bit into her hair while you are at her shoulder – and even try to kiss her neck. The child might resist a bit when you are getting that close to her head, but that is nothing to worry about, just pull respectably back. Regardless, just tell her that her hair smells really good. If she does not resist at all, just kiss her neck for a few seconds, and then kiss your way back and down from her shoulder toward her hand. This is yet a good test to see how far you can push it. But do not kiss her cheeks nor kiss her anywhere on her face during this step.

Children just love to be the center of an adult's attention. In most cases, this step will go just just fine without any negative reactions or rejections – but you must try to read the child's face and feelings.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

As we stated earlier, you may be allowed to taste her stomach too.

If everything has gone alright so far, and the girl is happy and excited about what you have done up to this point, ask her gently if you are allowed to kiss and taste her stomach.

Actually – the stomach is a sexual zone on the children, especially on little girls right below the bellybutton. This means that children can get sexually aroused if you rub them there. But even if you manage to get her sexually aroused, and even get yourself aroused in the same time, you still need to practice self discipline and only do what this step tells you to – as mentioned several times earlier. Please note that some children are really sensitive on this part, so they might actually get orgasms if you rub this part hard enough and long enough. We actually recommend that you stay off this part at this point so the child do not get scared or frightened in any way. That means staying above the bellybutton and being careful.

Start to feel her stomach carefully all over – and try to avoid the sexually sensitive zone below her bellybutton. This will most probably make serious laughter because the child will get tickled. But laughter is your friend during this step-by-step guide – it is like a green traffic light that indicates that everything is okay.

Then start to hug it and kiss it in the same time as you still feel it with your hands. Just make love with her stomach – and keep your hands away from your genital. Neither should you touch the child on any private parts at this time. Focus on the stomach only and keep in mind that the grand price is closer than ever at this point.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

The second and last thing you can try to do beyond her arms, if the child seems to be totally okay with what you have done so far, is to kiss your way carefully up to the child's breasts and nipples. Just kiss and suck a little bit on the nipples, just a few seconds, before you get down to the stomach again. This might be a little bit risky, just as with the stomach, since some children can be a little bit overwhelmed by all this touching and kissing on their bodies. So only do this if the child really likes this game and do not look insecure in any way. If you should be a little bit unsure about this, just stick to the arms during this session.

Just do all this for a while and have fun together, maybe a little bit longer than the first step. You do not need to rush anything as long as the child still consists and feels good about it. When you feel like stopping the game, or as soon as your time is up, stop the game just as you stopped it in the previous step.

Warning! (This is really important!)

This step must be repeated at least one more time before you move on to the next and third one. Repeat it one or two times as separate sessions – the more times you repeat this, the better.

A good idea, and our very recommendation, would be to combine the first two steps the next time you repeat this step. That means starting on her feet, and then doing her arms – and eventually her shoulder and neck, her tummy, and finally her breasts.

In other words: you must have at least three such sessions done in advance of the next and third step.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

Now – read the fictional illustration.

This illustration is pure literature and will show you a random sample of this step in practice based on true stories from real life scenarios. You are obligated to read this during this education to make sure that you know how to handle some potential surprises and see how this step could turn out in real life.

The early and bright next morning, Emile is up and is ready for preschool.
She opens the curtains in front of her windows ... and a beautiful little face is showing from inside the window, looking at the twiddling birds that are hovering outside her bedroom window.
Then she starts to play like she always does every morning before her mom travels to work and Joe drives her to preschool ... until ...
Emilie?
Yes?
She turns herself toward her bedroom door and sees Joe standing there and closing the door behind him.
There you are, my angel doll.
Joe! Shall we drive to preschool now?
Joe walks toward her and sits down in front of her.
My dear little baby doll, what do you say about staying home from preschool today so we can play our new and special game again?
Would you like to do that?
Yes, Joe! Yes! I want to do that very much!
Cool.
Mommy has left for work now and we're all alone in the house, so maybe we can play the game right now, if you want to?
Yes!
Emilie smiles and seems pretty motivated.
Joe pulls the cushion to the center of the room.
Today, princess, you can lie down on the cushion on your back so you'll rest comfortably. Do you want to do that?
Emilie goes onto the cushion with no hesitations ... and she lies herself down on her back with her feet hanging down at the front.
Are you going to play with my feet again today, Joe?
She smiles at him.
Today I want to play with something else on your beautiful little body, but only if I have your permission to do so. But before we can start, I want talk to you about something important.
Are you resting comfortable, little one?
Yes. I love this cushion, Joe ... it's so soft.
She looks very excited and happy now.
That's good to hear.
Princess, you remember that the children are the ones who decide everything in this game and can stop it whenever they want to?
Yes, I remember that.
Do you also remember yesterday, when I felt and tasted your cute little feet?
Yes. That was very funny because it tickled!
I know. But today I want to play with something else on your beautiful and special little body. Today I want to play with your beautiful arms ... and maybe kiss them a little bit. Do I have your permission to do that? If you don't want to do it, you don't have to.
You are allowed, Joe.
She smiles and look very definite.
Nice.
Maybe you can take off your t-shirt so I can access your arms better? But only if you want to.
Okay!
She pulls off her t-shirt pretty fast ... and suddenly she's lying there with her upper body completely nude ... and giggling a little bit.
While sitting right beside her, on her left side, he carefully starts to feel her left hand a little bit.
Then he starts to feel her arm gently upwards to her shoulder and downwards again ... repeatedly.
My God! This arm is just like a little doll's arm! It's so soft and cute!
Emilie giggles while watching him feeling her.
She bites on her lower lip again ... he isn't sure, but he thinks he can sense some sensual vibes coming from her.
Are you sure you're not a doll and have been fooling us all this time?
I'm not a doll, Joe! Now you're being silly!
More giggling.

Well ... okay.

Can I smell and kiss your arm a little bit, baby princess?

Yes!

He starts to smell her soft left arm carefully, and smells the sweetest smell in his life so far. Her arm is so tiny, soft and cute too. After having smelled the arm up and down between the shoulder and the hand for a little while, he starts to kiss and lick it very gently in the same way.

Emilie seems to enjoy it very much, so he continues to taste it less discrete.

Then he kisses further up, passing her shoulder, and smells a little bit into her hair right before he starts to kiss and suck on her neck.

Joe, what are you doing now?

She has a slightly concerned voice.

He needs to control himself, so he pulls carefully back, difficult as it is, starting to get sexually aroused again.

My dear angel, I hope I didn't scare you. Are you all right?

Yes. You tasted my neck too.

I know. I just wanted to taste a little bit more of you, since you are so pretty and tastes like candy.

Oh my! What do we have here?! A little tummy?! A soft and chubby little baby tummy?!

He starts to tickle her tummy a little bit ... and the girl screams out a short giggle.

Do you think Joe is allowed to kiss it if he's really careful and only tastes the tummy this time?

Okay, you're allowed to taste my tummy.

She is close to giggling again, and her smile is panoramic.

He rests his head on her warm and soft stomach for a little while to calm things down a bit ... and looks at her precious little round child face and her chubby cheeks. He thinks that this blond little beauty is just overwhelmingly attractive and hot.

He gently puts his right hand behind her neck and below her hair, and starts to tickle it softly.

Then he just goes for it. He takes a huge jaw of her stomach, and sucking on it and kissing it.

She screams and giggles of joy, and twisting her body, while it tickles.

Suddenly, while she's screaming and giggling with her thin little girl voice, he starts to loose control. He starts to shiver and has a powerful erection inside his pants. All he wants in this world right now is this sexy little preschool body in front of him ... but he also knows that he can't destroy the most important thing in his life that he's working on now. So he once again pulls back.

Emilie, I needs to go to the bathroom now. And I needs to go there fast. So we need to end the game now.

He has a shivering voice, but he smiles and tries to act casual.

Emilie seems to be very happy and doesn't care about him shivering or acting some unusual. She gets that strange smile again and starts to touch his chest with her left hand ... like she wants more but is a little bit too shy or doesn't know how to express it.

Do you need to pee, Joe?

Well ... that too!

And then he flees the room and heads for the bathroom ... before he does something that he'll regret.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 2 (The second physical contact)

Congratulations – the second step is trough!

Let this ending be an important reminder: as you noticed, Joe started to loose control toward the end. This kind of loss of control could have ended fatally if he had seduced this little girl and had sex with her at this point. Such a fatal act could have destroyed any chance of enjoying sex together in the future – in addition to have risked the child's wellbeing too. You really need to think about self discipline before taking these steps into practice.

As before, you should wait a day or so before playing it again.

Arrange the game as you did at the beginning of this step and say that you would like to play it one more time. If the child consents and wants to play it again, you can start right back on the part where you started to feel her arms – and continue from there. Or as we recommend, and if you should have the time, do both step 1 and step 2 over one session.

The reason for repeating this step is because it is a great insurance for the next and way more critical step to go as smooth as possible. The next step is a huge one to make for both you and the child, so the more you both are prepared, the more likely it will succeed.

So bare Joe's lack of control in mind and have fun with your little friend – and we will be seeing you soon in the third step.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Welcome back!

We are now about to move on to the third step – and the most important and critical step of this whole guide. This step will also be a very big and comprehensive step, so you will really need to stay focused and concentrated during this section of the education.

Warning! (This is really important!)

When you take this step into practice, there is just no way back. This is the point of no return. Now you are about to brake an international law and start practicing sex with children in real life.

Even though this step-by-step guide is carefully designed to make such relationships as safe and as successful as possible, it just can not guarantee anything. There are so many variables and factors in sexual relationships between adults and children, and this guide can simply not handle them all – that is physically impossible.

If you have any concerns about taking this step into practice, you should listen to the concerns and re think what you are about to do now, rather than later.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

We do not mean to be harsh about this, or scare you, but we all need to be realistic and think this through – not rush into it. We do actually care about you and your life, thus we are being such down to earth and honest toward our students.

If you have much to lose, you might lose it all if something goes wrong during or after this step. Even your own health and life might be at risk. But regardless of any threats or dangers, remember this: high stakes make high rewards.

If you have followed this guide precisely toward this point, and will keep following it just as precisely, this step and the future ones should be perfectly safe for both you and your little spouse(s).

Most people like to share good news – so do we!

As you might already have understood by now, you are now about to start practicing sex with kids. This will definitely change your life forever – also the life of your little angel. But the change will be positive, because sexual feelings are one of the most powerful and ecstatic feelings that us humans possess. It is the one and only drug that you can use as much as you can, adults as children, with no negative side effects – except for being caught of course.

We want your sharpest attention on this step since it is the most critical one: the transition from a basic relationship to a sexual one.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

At the end of the last step we told you to repeat that step one or two times before proceeding to this one. As you might remember, this is because it is a huge jump for both you and the child by going from Step 2 to Step 3. The more times you repeat Step 2, the more successful this step will be. In the end, it all depends on how well you know each other and how close your relationship is.

This step is going to be more or less like the previous ones, except for now you are going to play with the child's genitalia. This will be by far the most exciting part of this guide, for both of you, because now you are actually going to play with the child's main sexual body part. So both of you will now experience a very loving, intimate, exciting and powerful moment together.

You might need to take this step really slow – and even do it over several sessions – it all depends on the child's personal borders, personality and relationship toward you. The child might be body shy too, especially the older kids. So you might only be able to see the child's bottom first. Then you might see the vagina – and eventually feel it with your hands. Or you might just get it all in one package during one session. As been said: it depends on the child.

Because of all this, you really need to have your attention on the child and prioritize the child above your own feelings and sexual needs during this step. You must open your senses and look for any insecurity, shyness or rejection. If you sense any of these, at least take things very slowly and carefully. If any of these get really apparent, you must consider splitting the game up over two or more sessions, as mentioned and suggested above. We will help you with splitting up the game at the right places during this step.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

The child might already be known to orgasms. Either way, this session might give the child an orgasm. If this is going to be the child's very first orgasm, the child must be mentally prepared so it does not get frightened or neurotic if it should happen.

A child's first orgasm can be the scariest thing ever – or the greatest thing ever. It all depends on what the child knows about sex in advance and what personality the child has – some children are more experienced and/or more brave and rough than others. Though some children are very insecure and get easily frightened by even the smallest thing outside the ordinary. But if the latter type of children know what an orgasm is in theory, they will definitely not get that frightened by it – even though if it should get somewhat frightening the very first time.

If your child is very self secure and knows what an orgasm is in practice, and ideally is very experienced with masturbation, this step should be very easy for you to complete.

Most children from the age of 4 should know what an orgasm is – in their own way – and therefore not be afraid of it.

Many children experience their first orgasm alone or with other children without any adult presence. If a child gets scared by such an orgasm under these circumstances, it might affect its sexuality negatively for a long period of time and make it unsure and afraid for its own sexuality far into its youth – and even adult life.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Therefore it is ideal when an adult is with the child and is the one who are giving the child its very first orgasm – and making it feel safe and comfortable during and after its very first sexual climax.

This is why it should have been obligatory for adults to teach children about sex. Adult teachers at the children preschools and elementary schools should have had such roles to teach preschoolers about sex, and continue to practice sex with first graders during their first years. It is such a pity to be a helpless witness to a highly disturbed world where something as natural and beautiful as sex is such a forbidden thing made so disgusting. Sex creates bonds between adults and children in a way that simply can not happen in any other way. Your love together will be lifted to a level that matches the heavens – this is something that both you and your child will feel after this education.

The practical steps

The first approach you will need to make in this step is to contact your child and ask to speak with her. Make sure that you are alone and will not be disturbed for at least 1 hour – ideally 2.

You may want to sit comfortable down with the child on your lap at a cozy place while talking together.

Do not act too serious while speaking with her, which might make the child unsure. You must be self confident and sure about this during this talk – and make it as an exciting part of your new and secret game.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Start by asking the child if she likes the game so far and if she wants to play it any further. This might be a good opportunity to see what the child thinks of this game in general – before you move on to this critical step.

If she should not like it, something that is not very likely at this point, you must ask why and try to understand what the child means. Maybe you need to take different approaches or repeat the last steps more times – or even think about quitting, since this step is so critical, and find another child instead. Most likely, the child will like to play it further and be very excited.

Repeat to the child that this game is all about touching each other and playing with our bodies so it feels good and exciting. Tell the child that you have now played with her feet, her arms, and even her tummy. Now you would like to look at her bottom – and maybe look at her pee-pee too if you are allowed to. Do not mention that you want to touch her bottom or pee-pee yet, only look at them.

If she should ask you if you are going to touch any of them, you can say that only if she wants to and allows you to – and that this would not be any dangerous to any of you. If she does not ask this, just let it be for now and continue.

The older the child is, the more likely it will be body shy – not to mention brainwashed by a sexually distorted culture. So use the word maybe as much as possible during this talk to give the child a sense of control and security. In other words: the difficulty of this step will increase by the child's age – hence why we recommend approximately 5 year olds for starters.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Ensure the child that it will be only the two of you and no one else who will ever know about this game because it is your very special and secret game. With the older children, older than nine years old, it would be wise to emphasize that this is nothing to be embarrassed or ashamed about, and that this game is harmless.

If the child seems a bit unsure or negative to the idea, you can carefully feel your way through by asking if it is all right for you to only look at some of her bottom if she pulls her pants just a little bit down – and then take things from there or just split the game and try to go further the next time you play.

If she reacts completely negative or does not want to play it at all, or even looks insulted, you might want to consider not going any further, as in ever. If you push the child or force it, then you will be abusing it and placing yourself and the child in huge danger. Most likely, the child will not react like this, but the older kids might.

If the child seems positive to the idea, ask the child if she wants to play the game right away.

Before you actually start, you must be absolutely sure that no one sees you or will be disturbing you for at least the next hour or so. Be sure that this session is well planned – especially if you are having a spouse at a secret place outdoors. You do not want anyone to open the door or pop up during this step and session.

No props are needed, but it could be nice for the child to have a comfortable chair or a cushion to sit on during the game, like in the previous step.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Start the game by asking the child for permission to to see her butt. Suggest that she can pull down her pants while she is facing away from you so you can see it better – and that she will decide how much the pants shall be pulled down. Make sure you are in an arms length to the child from behind.

Just let the child make the decisions, while you are only suggesting, and in general be a passive player of the game with no authority. The more you manage to do this, the more likely this step will succeed – and without having to split the game.

As soon as you see it, compliment it and study it for a minute or so. Then ask if you are allowed to carefully feel it with your hands.

Milestone 1

This chapter is going to be the first one that has milestones in it. A milestone is a place where you will need to decide, by using your social senses and common sense, if the game should be split and continued the next time (and next day) you play.

If the child acts a little bit quiet or shy, or unsure about what is going on, the best thing to do is to shut the game down at these milestones and continue the next time. In this way, the child will be able to digest these steps and slowly get used to nudity and sexual intimacy with another human beings – especially adults.

Otherwise, you may continue to the next milestone – and make a new decision there.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

If you are allowed to feel it, put both your hands on her bottom and feel and squeeze it very gently. If you ask her to bend forward, you will be seeing her vagina from behind – that will make your heartbeat increase, as we can assure you. Carefully pull the bottom apart to see her anus – and just continue feeling it a little bit more.

After you have felt it for a couple of minutes or so, take your thumb and start feeling her anus opening gently. Just rub it with a light pressure up and down. Ask her if she likes it, when you are touching her like that, to confirm that she is not uncomfortable with it.

Your next question and move will be to ask to see her pee-pee – or whatever harmless and funny name you have for the child's genital in your language and culture.

Milestone 2

Now it will be great if she sits on a chair or on a cushion in front of you, so you can sit on the floor in front of her and study her vagina.

Ask her if she would like to pull her pants all the way off – though it is not required for this step to work.

If she has her legs together while sitting in front of you, do not try to separate them yourself or do this by force if she should resist. Neither try to talk her into it or convince her, just let her decide that all by her own.

Just look at her vagina, as it is, and do not act too engaged or sexually aggressive.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

After a minute or so, ask her if she can spread her legs a bit so you can get a better view of her pee-pee. You could also be bold enough to feel her legs in a sensual way – this might really turn her on and make her horny. Though, it might scare her too – so make sure that you know she is confident and safe enough to get her legs felt.

Milestone 3

If she spreads her legs, or if she did spread them at once, you will now have a pretty good view at a child's genital in front of you.

Now you will really need to control yourself and be careful.

Just look at it and feel her legs a bit without coming too close to the genital, just to raise the tension and excitement in her. Getting her horny is a very constructive thing for this step, though not required.

The girl might just explode too. Not literally though! She might be known to masturbating, and you might have turned her seriously on by now, so she might just go straight for her vagina with her tiny little doll hands. In that case, you are a really lucky man or female.

Most likely, she will just be sitting there in front of you pretty quietly with an excited look in her face – and you should just continue feeling her legs and looking at her vagina while complimenting it.

You might also compliment her looks, her face, her body too. Little girls, especially, need this to be self confident sexual beings.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

After a minute or two of studying her vagina with her legs spread, ask her gently if you are allowed to touch her pee-pee if you are very careful with your fingers.

Do not tell her or act like you really want to do it, since that might put a pressure on her – just ask calmly and give her room to decide.

Milestone 4

Ask her to come a little bit closer if she is not close enough. Spread her legs gently if their not fully spread already. Just act calm and slowly, no fast or aggressive moves, since children are very sensitive to adult behavior in general.

Do not rush it – take your time and start off by just feeling her inner ties very gently. Then work your way in toward her holy cherry.

Now it is a good time to go trough some facts and tips regarding a little girl's vagina, if you have not been into one before. You should read trough this regardless of your knowledge so you do not miss out on anything important.

A little girl's vagina is basically similar to an adult woman's vagina. Though, it is smaller, hairless, and feels way more cleaner and nice. It has two outer lips that is more or less closed together, which make that typical chubby little girly pee-pee with a crack right in the middle of it. These lips can be opened to each side – and you do not have to be afraid of hurting the girl, the vagina is very soft, elastic and flexible this way.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

When you open these lips, you will see the vagina canal entrance at the bottom and a little tip right over the canal that is the little girl's clitoris and urine tube. The clitoris will expand when the girl is aroused, and the vagina canal might get lubricated – even a stream of lubricating substance might come slowly out of its lower part.

Do not stick your fingers or any objects into the vagina canal now. This version of the step-by-step guide does not support any sort of penetration into the child's vagina and anus, as this might give the child pain and even physical damage – thus destroy the important love and confidence between you.

Though, you may carefully use your finger to rub the vagina a little bit inside the entrance when you get to that point – but as soon as the child says ouch, or anything like that, just apologize and then be more careful.

You can rub the whole vagina with your fingers or hands pretty hard with the confidence of not hurting anything. You would be surprised to know how hard little girls are rubbing themselves when they are masturbating – especially if they get really horny while doing it.

Remember that the clitoris is the most sensitive part of the vagina. Playing with the clitoris might give some really interesting results, and pretty fast sometimes.

If the girl's vagina gets lubricant, just smear the lube all over the vagina and use it to your advantage. You can also smell and lick your fingers while doing this – kiddie pussy juice is heaven.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Just do whatever you want to with the vagina, or the penis, by using your fingers, as long as the child is older than 1 year old and that you do not penetrate anything. Regarding little boys and their penises, you must be very careful with the testicles while rubbing – and try to avoid pulling back the foreskin, as that might cause pain.

While you are feeling her inner ties, it is a good time to prepare the child for its first orgasm. So ask the little one if she has ever played with her pee-pee before with her fingers or hands.

If she has, ask her what happens with her body when she does that. And then you will get the answer. If she describes an orgasm in any way, you can just ask her if she wants to feel that right now – and we bet that she will want one.

If she has not played with her pee-pee before or seems not to have experienced an orgasm yet, or anything close to it, you must tell her what might happen when you start to play with her pee-pee. Because an orgasm might just happen.

Try to avoid the word orgasm, in case she should let her tongue slip among other kids or adults later on.

Actually we recommend telling her about this anyway, just to be on the safe side – you will then be giving her an explanation to what is happening with her body when she plays with her pee-pee. Most children would want to know this regardless.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Explaining masturbation and orgasm to a child is actually very easy. Tell the child that it might feel really nice when you start to feel her pee-pee, and that she will feel this nice feeling all over her body. Emphasize that this is a good feeling and that she does not have to be afraid of it – it is a perfectly normal feeling that is very funny and feels very good. Tell her that It feels even much better than eating candy. Wow, she will think then.

Then tell her that this nice feeling might get so nice that she might start to shiver a bit and feel something strange happen to her body. But once again, it is not dangerous. Tell her that she can hold your hands while you give her that good feeling, and that you will be right beside her and look after her while it happens.

It will regardlessly feel safe for the child to have something and someone to hold on to if the feelings get a little bit out of hand, which a very strong orgasm might do. Both children girls and boys are fully capable of multi orgasms, which means that they might get a series of orgasms in a row and really loose control.

And that is all, really.

Now she will know what might happen with her body when you start to play with her pee-pee. And she will know that this is not dangerous – and that you are there to hold her hands and be right by her side if it should feel a little bit too much for her.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

To begin with, feel three fingers up and down over her vagina while the middle finger is gently into the crack and slides over her clitoris and her vagina entrance. Just do this for a while and see how the child reacts.

The child might begin to moan and twist her body, since you are now stimulating the little angel sexually. But this really depends on the child itself, since all the excitement and what we call positive fear might hold back the sexual feelings during this first sexual play. Just do not expect an orgasm right away – but on another hand it can happen pretty fast too if you are really fortunate.

Actually, what you choose to do with her vagina is more or less up to yourself and your own creativity, as long as the child continues to consist and that you are taking things slowly and gently. Enjoy this powerful moment and just explore the vagina as long as possible. You will love it, and the child will love it too – that is the beauty of teaching children about sex.

As soon as the child starts to moan or show arouse, or after a while of exploring with your hands and fingers, you may ask the child if you are allowed to kiss her pee-pee.

Milestone 5

We do not see any reasons for why she would not want you to do that at this point, since she has already allowed you to touch it, so we will assume with great confidence that she will give you the permission that you will need to do her orally.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Now you can start to taste her – but be careful not to stick your tongue too far inside her vagina canal. Just lick her vagina like a sweet and cold lollipop ice on a hot summer day. You will drive her mad, and even drive yourself mad in the same time. She might also giggle a lot since it might tickle her, but that is just fun.

To be on the safe side, grab her hands, if she wants to, and hold them tightly so she will feel secure and have something to hold on to if she gets her first orgasm – and especially if it gets totally out of control, which might happen with little kids who are very horny.

Now you are probably wondering how a man can survive something like this without getting completely mentally insane?

We would have been out of our minds if we had demanded you to not grab for your penis in a situation like this. It would have been like telling you to go out from a cliff, and demanded you not to fall.

We have three words for you now: Go for it!

Either you are a man or a woman, now you are allowed to masturbate – the child will be occupied with getting her vagina licked like mad. But still, please be discreet and try your very best not to show it. If you are able to rub your pants only, that will be the best. Thus it might be a wise idea to put on a condom in advance, and use pants that are pretty soft and elastic.

This does not mean that you must masturbate, but that you are allowed to if you can not hold back anymore.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

If the child gets an orgasm, and this is the child's first one, be sure to hold the child's hands tightly with either both of your hands or just one of them, depending on if one of your hands is busy or not. If you are able to, tell her not to be afraid and just let it come, as soon as you sense that she is about to get one. The general signs of an orgasm among children are: uncontrolled shiver and kicking with their legs, heavy breathing, and a crying like moaning.

Here comes a really important note: the child might start to cry during or after its first orgasm. Your first thought would normally be to panic and think: what have I done now? But do not panic. This is not dangerous at all and the child is not in any real pain or fear.

Children might cry when they do not know how to express their feelings in words. A first orgasm might give a child so strong feelings that the child does not know how to express them, except for crying a little bit. Do not feel bad or get afraid about it, just lift the child onto your lap and comfort it. Tell the sweet little child that she is a big girl now and there is nothing to be afraid of, because you are there to comfort her.

This might sound cruel and less emphatic, but children are children, they do cry a lot – and crying is rarely any signs of real pain or fear, just their way of expressing complex feelings.

She will be just fine if this happens as long as you are there to comfort her. So do not misinterpret such a reaction or panic if it should happen.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

After the orgasm, if she gets one, it would be a great time to shut the game down for now. Just lick it a little bit more, so you do not waste any holy juice, and then shut the game down naturally.

Try to smile at her to calm her down and reassure her that everything you both did right now and everything that happened is okay and just fine. Feel her body a little bit as you shut the game down and ask her if she liked it and if she is all right.

Hold her tightly and comfort her if she needs to.

If the child does not get an orgasm, you can just lick her as long as you like – just use your time to play with her body and vagina. A good time to shut the game down could be when you get your own orgasm inside your pants.

You might want to lick her butt during this step too. Please feel free to do exactly that if you want to. Just feel and lick her all over the genital and butt. But do not kiss or lick her face during this step.

Warning! (This is really important!)

Please note that bacteria and general dirt from the anus might infect the child's vagina while combining the two during sex play. Any infection in this area will cause discomfort for the child and might put yourself under suspicion. To avoid any potential vagina infections during such a combination, always wash your hands and wipe the child's anus with some wet baby tissues, or any mild genital cleaning products, in advance. This also regards bacteria from your hands if they are not clean during vaginal play only.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

If the child does not want to shut the game down, you could always play it even longer than planned. This is, regardless, a very positive sign and means that the child really loves the game and is very sure about what both of you are doing together.

If the child would like to see your genital, tell her that she maybe can do that the next time you play – but only if she asks.

As been written before: this guide is designed with a five year old preschool girl as the main example – and it is optimized for children girls in this age group. Still, this guide is universal and should fit every child between approximately five and twelve years old, either if you are a man or a woman, or if the child is a boy or girl.

When having sex with a little boy or an older child, it should not be any difficulties converting the written situation in real time.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

Now – read the fictional illustration.

This illustration is pure literature and will show you a random sample of this step in practice based on true stories from real life scenarios. You are obligated to read this during this education to make sure that you know how to handle some potential surprises and see how this step could turn out in real life.

It's late afternoon the next day, and Joe has arranged for him and Emilie to be alone for a couple of hours. Joe had grabbed the opportunity to go through the next and most important step in the guide when he suddenly got the chance to be all alone in the house with his stepdaughter.

He's now sitting on the cushion inside Emilie's room, leaning his back toward the wall, with Emilie on his lap.

My pretty little angel, what do you think of our special and secret game so far?

It is very funny, Joe! I like it very much!

Good.

Do you want to play it more and do new and exciting stuff together?

Yes, Joe ... I want to do that.

That's cool to hear.

You know that this special game that we have together is all about touching each other and playing with our bodies so it feels good?

Yes. It is very funny because it tickles!

Emilie smiles at him.

I know, I know.

By now, I've been playing with your cute little feet, your soft little arms, and even your cute little tummy. Now I would like to look at a very special part of your body ... and that is your butt ... and maybe look a little bit at your cute little pee-pee too ... if I'm allowed to.

Emilie gets a serious look in her face, but a smile is still shining somehow through.

Grownups aren't allowed to touch the children's pee-pee, Joe! Mommy has told me that!

Oh.

How about we brake that foolish rule and do it anyway, because it's so exciting, and then keep it as our precious little secret so no one will ever know about it?

Emilie gets a little bit quiet for a while, still looking seriously at Joe, but eventually confirms carefully.

Okay.

This is a special game, you know, and this is not dangerous at all to do ... it's only a stupid rule that some grownups have made.

So are you cool with this, do you allow Joe to see these special and secret parts of your body?

Yes, you're allowed to.

Emilie smiles with one finger childishly in her mouth.

Cool.

Maybe you can stand over there with your back toward me, and then pull your pants down a little bit so Joe can see your butt?

Joe points at the middle of the room

Okay!

Emilie jumps down from Joe's lap in excitement, and ends up in the middle of the room with her back toward him.

Are you ready, Joe?

Oh my God. I hope so.

Just kidding!

Joe gets down on his knees right behind her.

Are you sure you're okay with this? If you don't like this, you don't have to play it anymore.

You're allowed to, silly Joe!

Emilie giggles and seems to be ready to start off the game.

Dear God.

Inch by inch, her little kiddie bottom gets revealed. Joe sees this bright, soft and hairless butt reveal in front of him ... and he already can feel the sexual tension in the room.

Emilie is very engaged while she giggles.

And there it is! A child's bottom right in front of him ... completely revealed ... with the pants pulled all the way down to her feet.

Oh my God, Emilie!

Joe is starting to feel the pressure and is only inches away from grabbing her bottom and squeezing it. But he reminds himself of the very importance of self discipline in this step ... and stays off. Though, he must feel her a little bit so he grabs her tiny soft arm carefully and strokes it.

That is one beautiful little bum Emilie!

Emilie giggles more now and hides her face with her hands while being a little bit shy and embarrassed.

Emilie, do I have your permission to carefully feel your butt with my hands?

Simon is still stroking her arm and acts gently with a soft and sensual voice.

Okay. Why not.

She giggles even more.

Nice.

Why don't you take your pants all the way off and come with me to our special cushion? Then you can lie comfortably down on your stomach so I can play with your beautiful little butt. Do you want to do that?

Okay.

Emilie goes straight to the cushion after Joe moves it to the center of the room.

And all the way off the pants go.

Emilie is suddenly standing there half nude and scratching her butt while looking at Joe with a that rare look again, and flirting behind those beautiful innocent children eyes ... not that innocent after all, it appears.

Are you sure Joe is allowed to carefully play with your butt for a little bit?

Yes! Silly Joe!

The room gets quiet when Emilie gets on the cushion.

The excitement in that girl is rising by every minute ... she is definitely ready for this.

Joe is just sitting there with his fleeting look, almost can't believe what's happening, also being a little bit afraid of the feeling of loosing control again. But now he knows that masturbation is allowed and safe to perform ... which increases the sexual tension even more.

He carefully puts his right hand on her right bottom part, feeling the softest and most elastic little thing ever ... a child's warm butt!

He uses his other hand to feel her left tie up and down, to raise the tension and temperature inside her.

My God! Do you like it when I do this, Emilie?

Mm, I like it very much.

She answers a little bit quietly.

He opens her bottom carefully and sees this pink tiny hole getting revealed. He continues to have his hands in motion and feels her butt in a circular move.

Emilie closes her eyes and seems to enjoy it, obviously feeling very safe and confident in Joe's hands and presence.

Wow! Nothing can beat this softness, cleanness and cuteness, Emilie! My perfect little doll.

The beauty of this body position is that her child vagina shows from beneath. And what's even more beautiful is that he can now see a tiny stream of natural lubricant coming out from the inside of her vagina, making it glance.

He takes his thumb and starts to rub her anus very gently up and down. Emilie's body gives an instant and intensive shake right when the thumb presses against her anus opening. He can hear that her breathing is increasing a little bit, and he just knows in relief and enjoyment that this is going in the right direction. He can feel the sexual tension himself and gets concerned about how strong this feeling really is now, and how difficult it would be to just stop now, so he tries to concentrates as much as possible on self discipline.

Emilie, can you be a good little girl and get up on the cushion and turn around toward Joe?

Without much as a reply, nor much of hesitation, Emilie jumps up on the cushion and turns around toward Joe, with excitement glowing out from her big doll like eyes and round face.

Do you think Joe is allowed to look closer at your beautiful little pee-pee, little darling?

Okay.

Emilie replies immediately and moves fast ... obliviously consenting.

She sits down in front of him and spreads her legs wide open. She shows her vagina to Joe, while biting on her lower lip, with great pride and total engagement to this game.

Her lust is all the way transparent by now.

She suddenly looks dead serious.

Joe is trying to keep track of space and time while staring right into a lubricated little five year old girl's vagina.

He continues to feel her ties while just glancing at the cherry ... lost for words and ready to get all over her.

After a little while of just enjoying the view, he asks her:

Do you think Joe can touch and feel your pee-pee with his fingers, if he's really careful?

Emilie hangs for a few seconds, while staring deeply into his eyes. It looks like she's a little bit unsure. But then:

Okay.

While Joe feels her with his hands, closer and closer toward the vagina on the inside of her ties, he uses the opportunity to prepare the little girl for an orgasm.

Emilie, have you ever played with your pee-pee before?

He asks with a clam voice.

Yes. It feels really good, Joe, when I play with it!

What happens to your body when you play with it for a while?

It feels so good that I can't stop. And then something strange happens to my body, but it feels so good so I let it happen.

That's perfectly normal, Emilie. Everyone feel just like that when they play with their pee-pees. This is a gift that we humans have gotten from God ... and we can do this as much as we want to. It's not dangerous at all ... everyone should do it all the time.

Do you want Joe to give you that nice feeling now while we're all alone and playing our secret and special game together?

Yes.

She replies with moderate confidence.

Without ever before having touched a little child's vagina, he just lets his three fingers glide from the bottom and upwards over the lubricant vagina ... first over a little hole and a tiny crack ... and then over this little mountaintop of an expanded clitoris.

Then something happens with Emilie ... she starts to moan with a crying voice while twisting her hip a bit.

Joe continues for a little while, stroking his three fingers up and down over this totally wet kiddie vagina, while seeing something huge and powerful build up inside this little living doll of his. He just knows what's about to happen now!

I know that you like this now, Emilie. I like it too. So do you think Joe can lick and suck on your pee-pee now, just like he did on your cute little feet and toes? I promise you that it will feel very nice.

Mm.

She replies with her crying voice behind sealed lips and moves her hip toward Joe. She lifts her legs up and is ready to squeeze her hip tightly around Joe's head.

She just knows what's going on ... and she knows what she wants and needs!

Now he really did loose track of time and space! He could even feel the sweet smell from her vagina right before he laid his whole mouth over it and started to lick and suck it like nothing else. Soft and wet, salty and juicy, sweet as a spring morning in Hawaii.

This is something that he could have done forever without stopping ... a slight peace of heaven right there. It smells sweet and horny. It tastes even hornier.

Emilie drops herself backwards and falling heavily down on the cushion with a face of delight ... surrendering herself sexually to a huge aggressive male ... letting herself get conquered ... and loves every bit of it!

The little girl starts to breathe and moan like a little porn star, and twisting her hips, while Joe tries to hold her stationary so he can lick her well ... a little struggle between a horny little girl and a horny adult man ... a struggle that only both can eventually win.

Joe just can't stop at this point! He just can't get enough of this smell, taste, softness and wetness! This childishness, this innocence, these thin little girl moaning sounds. He just can't get enough of eating this little precious and innocent girl up!

And Emilie just can't stop moaning either ... getting her pee-pee licked as good as it gets for the first time in her life ... experiencing something really powerful and exciting without any borders. Sure, this little girl child is afraid, but her horny feelings have taken over her body completely and she's now on the most frightening, as in the same time most exciting, roller coaster of her life.

When the little girl feels like she just can't take it anymore, moaning and crying in the same time, she crouches herself forwards and grabs Joe's head while she rides of her biggest orgasm so far ... and letting it all come out.

Joe feels like crying himself ... doesn't really know what's up or down, but knows that his explosive and rock solid penis must be emptied pretty soon. Then his right hand let's go of Emilie.

He starts to rub his pants desperately with his right hand while licking this vagina, so wet that it drips down on the cushion underneath.

Emilie gets a huge relief after her powerful orgasm. She had to help out a little bit with her small fingers ... after all, she's the expert when it comes to her own vagina! So Joe is now licking both her vagina and her little fingers.

He just wants to eat the whole child up at this point!

In between slurping and wet sounds, a loud male grunt is heard from this little girl's bedroom.

He pumps and he pumps out sperm inside his jeans like it was never going to end. He's shaking and is very close to losing his sanity at this point, but is saved by the end of his orgasm and feels the same relief as Emilie obviously did ... and does.

Emilie is just lying there now and trying to come back to the living again.

She gets a little bit up and looks at Joe with this really strange look. Her face is blushed, she has tears in her eyes, and she breathes like she had run a one mile marathon.

Joe grabs for his forehead and tries to digest everything that just happened over the last few minutes.

He then gets worried about Emilie being frightened.

Emilie? Are you okay?

Yes. I am all right.

This was very strange Joe.

My dear little Emilie.

He grabs her hands and smiles at her.

It's very important that you understand this: what we just did now was beautiful. It felt very nice for both of us and we both wanted to do it very much. Just think of what we can experience together when we're alone and can play together like this. Don't listen to mommy or anyone who tells you that this is wrong. If something feels good, if something feels right, just like this did, and no one gets hurt by it, then we should just do it.

It was strange to do this with a grownup, Joe. I haven't done that before. And it felt so good that it scared me.

I felt just the same, Emilie! I got a little bit scared too! But still, it isn't dangerous! It's a gift from God that we should exploit and use as much as possible. It's the funniest and nicest thing two people can do together.

I am not afraid anymore, Joe.

She smiles again.

That's good, my angel. Do you want to play this game again ... another time? Maybe tomorrow, if we are alone together?

Yes. I want to do that.

Cool. Me too.

I loved it almost as much as I love you! This game is all about loving each other and doing magic things together. This is magic Emilie.

And I love you more than anything in this world!

I love you too, Joe!

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 3 (Exploring the child's genital)

How about that?

By now, we can only imagine how happy and satisfied you and your little spouse are – and how excited you both are about this game – either if any of you had an orgasm or not. Even if you do not have a child in your life at this point, you should still be pretty happy about this literature – and have something to look forward to.

This step does not need to be repeated, but it might be wise to still repeat it a couple of times if you should have the time and opportunity – this might increase the success of the next step. But it is strictly not necessary – and it should be safe to move on.

Just as with any other step in this guide, wait a day or so before you move on to Step 4. Try not to wait too long before you go to the next step – it is important that the child continues to stay in this sexual mood and intimate closeness to you.

Have a nice day – and we will be seeing you soon in Step 4!
We promise you that the fun will continue – and it will only get better and hotter while you work your way through the next steps.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genital)

Welcome back, dear students!

You have now reached Step 4 of this child love education, and now something really special is about to happen. As a continuation from the last step, you are now about to introduce your very own genital to your little spouse – and hopefully make him or her play with it.

Most children just love adult genitals. The curiosity and interest for this is actually overwhelming. This is because this area of our bodies is so secretive. But all children are different from each other, so it is really difficult to know for sure how a child will react to this.

This chapter requires some key preparations for it to be successful. It is usually the lack of these important preparations that very often leads to two very common negative outcomes:

1. Making a child's first meeting with a male penis negative, something that might destroy all your hard work up to now.
2. Leads to the adult getting caught by the law and sentenced in jail because of DNA evidence.

Thus it is very important to do everything right from the very beginning of this session for it to be successful.

This chapter will teach you in details about all these important preparations and every single step you will need to learn and make to get a child love your penis and love playing with it – and make both of you stay safe and happy into the future as lovers.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genital)

The goal of this step and session is to reach two objectives:

1. Make the child see, study and explore the male penis
2. Show the child an ejaculation of semen

We will need to take things really slow here to protect the child and make sure that the child does not get too much to handle at once. The very first meeting with an adult penis might be a little bit overwhelming for some children – thus you must be gradual, careful and decent toward the child.

As we have been talking about before, some children are very skeptical while others are really brave and unafraid. Even if you should have a very brave and unafraid little spouse, do not fall for the temptation of going further than or going past what we suggest in this step. You have already come very far by now, so you must try to practice self control and self discipline to make sure that this education will go as smooth and successful as possible.

The preparations

When a child is about to play with an adult penis, it will be very hard for the adult to control the sexual lust – especially if the adult is not very experienced with child love. That means it is very likely that the adult male will have a sperm ejaculation during the play. Actually, a sperm ejaculation is a part of this step and play anyway, thus it is very important for both the adult and the child to be prepared for this exciting consequence.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genital)

Some children who do not know about sperm ejaculations before an exploration of a penis, will laugh and think it is fun to watch the penis suddenly pump and spit out semen. But most children will not, because they were not prepared for it and got scared about it. If the latter happens, especially with little girls, you might give a child a negative first impression of an adult male penis. This might cause a child to lack motivation toward the future of this game – or even destroy everything you have worked on so far. This might also give a child a negative experience with a penis – which might stay there for a long while into the child's youth and adulthood.

The first preparation you will need to make before you start on this step in practice is to buy Kefir. It does not have to be Kefir, but any similar milk product that has the approximately same substance – a white color and a thickness right in between milk and yogurt. Another important thing about this milk product is that it must be neutral in taste, which means no special taste like strawberries or anything like that. Ideally a neutral Kefir with a white color.

Therefore buy a bottle or carton of Kefir and put it in the fridge.

The second preparation is to practice a very good self hygiene during this step. The children do not need to do this, since they will taste sweet anyway. But it is very important for the adult to be completely clean and have a totally clean penis or vagina before practicing this step. This is so important because children have an extremely sensitive smell and taste, especially children below the age of 8 – so a not recently washed adult genital, or a dirty one, will definitely make the child wrinkle its nose and stay away from it.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genital)

Take a decent shower and make sure to clean your penis with a suitable soap all over and underneath the foreskin. Also the anus. Do this the same day as you are about to practice this step – ideally right before you begin, just to be on the safe side.

The third and last preparation is the awareness of semen residues. Your semen contains your DNA, which is a unique genetic code that can be used against you in the court of law as bulletproof evidence. Look at it as your unique fingerprint that will stay on anything for a very long time and be a link to you. If anyone should find such residues later on the child's clothes or any belongings, or even on the child itself, and that these residues can be linked to you, then you are in big trouble and you will most likely end up in prison.

It is therefore extremely important to make sure that you do not spill any semen on the child or on the child's clothes unless you are able to wash all of these after the session is done or if you have total control over the situation in general. This is regardless extremely important for anyone who are pursuing and establishing relationships with kids out in the field, outdoors.

Okay, let us sum this up:

1. Buy a bottle or carton of neutral Kefir with white color
2. Wash your penis (under the foreskin too) and your anus
3. Be aware of and try to avoid leaving any sperm residues

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genitalia)

The practical steps

As usual, you will need to arrange the game again with the child.

This time you will need some decent time to complete the step, so make sure you have got at least 2 hours of undisturbed time with your little spouse at your secret place. It is much better to wait a few days before you begin on this step, if you need to do that to get this ideal time, rather than hurrying and then maybe getting caught by a surprise or frightening the child during stress.

When you are finally alone with the child, it is time to talk to the child and prepare the child for its first encounter with a penis.

Make yourself comfortable by sitting down in front of each other and ask the child if she would like to play the game again today. Most likely, the child would want to do that. Then tell the child that you would like to do something really exciting this time, and that is to show your pee-pee to her and let her watch it and explore it. Do not mention any touching yet, we will let this happen by itself. Finally ask the child if she would like to do this.

If the child should resist at this point, something that is really unlikely, try to comfort the child with the fact that the penis is very harmless and she does not need to touch it if she does not want to. Or you can suggest repeating the last game you had together and see where things will lead from there.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genital)

If you get a green light, then you can begin on the preparations.

Start by telling the child that the adult male penis is very special and it can do special things. It is very kind and it loves to play with little girls – or little boys for that matter. Mostly it is soft, but sometimes it can grow and get bigger and harder. If you squeeze and touch the penis, then it might grow.

Then continue to tell that the penis is very special because it has seeds in it, and these are the seeds that can create new babies when it is planted inside an adult girl's tummy. These seeds look and taste almost like Kefir, and anyone can touch it and even taste it if they would like to try that.

Now it is time to ask the child if she would like to see how these seeds look like before she sees the penis – so have the Kefir from the fridge ready and nearby. Ask the child to reach her hands out, then take a spoon and drip some Kefir into one of her hands. Do not drip too much Kefir into the hand at once, just a few drops. Then tell the child that this is exactly how the seeds look like and feel like when you touch it. You can tell her to lick it from her hands if she wants to. If she decides to lick it off her hands, something that is very likely that she will do, tell her that this is how it tastes like. The Kefir will not taste anything special, but it will not taste bad either, thus the child will get a nice first impression of male semen.

Now tell the child that you would like to drip some seeds onto her tummy, so she can feel how that is like. Ask her to dress off her upper body, and then drip some Kefir on her tummy. You can wipe it off with a cloth or some paper when done.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genitalia)

Finally ask the child if she would like to have some seeds in her mouth too – and if she wants to do that, tell her to lean her head backwards while closing her eyes. Now drip some Kefir into her open mouth from a couple of feet or so, but only a few drops so it does not feel unpleasant. Also drip some on her face on purpose.

This should be a lot of fun for both of you and a very important preparation to teach and prepare the child for the ejaculation that is about to happen pretty soon, and also for the last step of this guide. And you will now be able to see how the child reacts to the seeds in general, and see how she thinks of all this.

Unfortunately, though it is extremely rare, some children will not like this at all. It can be several reasons for this, but it is much better to notice this now instead of later. If this should be the case, you should really reconsider going any further at this time. Since you have already done the previous steps with success, you could always repeat any of those and see where that leads you. Or you can show the penis to the little one and make sure it does not ejaculate – and hopefully he or she will gradually accept this. You will regardless have to think this through and then make a final decision if this should happen.

When you are done playing with the Kefir, you may ask the child if she would like to see your penis now.

This will be a very excited moment for the child, since almost all kids out there are really curious about male penises, or vaginas for that matter, and especially male semen and ejaculations.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genitalia)

There are two ways of doing this, and it all depends on how close and trusting your relationship is toward each other and if you can afford spilling any semen on the child or not.

1. Having the child on your lap, ideally both being nude, with her face pointing away from you – like you would sit when watching TV close together. Then the child will be able to have your penis between her ties and legs, and easily play with it while both of you are very close and intimate. You can also shoot your semen all over the child's upper body.
2. Having the child stand or sit in front of you with her head at the approximately same height as your penis. In this way, the child will get a really close view of the penis while still having a little bit of distance from you – and you will have a much better control of where your semen will go.

As you might see, the first option is for those of you who firstly have a very close and trusting relationship with a child, and secondly do not need to be afraid of spilling any semen on the kid or on the kid's clothes or belongings.

The second one is the safest option since it will not be that intimate for the child and you will have full control of where the semen is heading, as in being able to turn away from the child and pump out the semen wherever you should find it suitable.

You will need to make a decision based on what you feel is most right for you and your little spouse. Beginners or first timers are recommended to use the second option – but not obligated though.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genitalia)

The best thing for you to do before you begin to undress is to repeat to the child about the rule that the children are the ones who decide everything and can stop the game whenever they want to. This will make the child feel safe and comfy, and being in control.

If you are using option 2 on page 137, it is recommended that the child is the one who opens your pants and takes the penis out. In this way, you will be creating a very excited moment and the child will have the feeling of being a part of that excitement – not to mention having a feeling of personal control and security toward the game, since here the child can decide the tempo and how far he or she would like to go to begin with. If the child should be a bit skeptical about doing this herself, just take it out yourself carefully. Thus it is wise to use soft and elastic pants while doing this step.

It is best not to give the child any direct orders or instructions from this point, just let her look at it all by herself and be in charge.

If she does not touch it by her own after a while, you may tell her that it is okay and not dangerous at all to touch it and play with it by using her hands – and that she is allowed to do that.

Another cool thing you can do is to show her that the foreskin can be pulled back, and then ask her if she would like to try that too with her little hands.

You may in general suggest things carefully and talk a little bit as you go along. You can speak calmly to her while she is exploring it, like this: “Look, there it grows. Just like I told you. Isn't that cool?”

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genitalia)

If you have chosen option 1 at page 137 and is having the child on your lap and being close together while playing the game, you may feel her arms, legs and pat her head to create a secure, intimate and warm environment around you. If you have a really close relationship, you may also carefully hug and kiss her cheeks – and in general squeeze her into your body and create a really close and loving moment while doing this. Though, we recommend that you do not feel her vagina or masturbate her, since that might distract her too much – we need the kid's attention on the penis in this step.

What to do further from here is actually mostly up to the child. In most such scenarios, regardless of option chosen, the child will start to explore it carefully by first looking very intensively at it – and then start to pinch and squeeze it with its small doll fingers and hands. Some children will be much more brave and just grab it at once and then start playing with it seriously – it all depends on the child's personality, as we have been into before.

After a while of exploration, or as soon as you feel that you are about to come very soon, tell the child that the seeds are coming, and if she squeezes it and pulls it, it will come out.

Then try to let the child make you come by showing her how to use her little hands, and finally let her see the seeds shoot out.

Some child lovers, especially the fresh ones, might be so nervous during this step that they fail to come – though this is pretty rare. If that should happen, do not worry, just tell the child that it did not come now, but it might come the next time you play. Do not panic if this happens, it is normal to be anxious or nervous the first time.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genitalia)

Some of you might be so nervous that you even fail to get an erection in the first place. That is also normal and nothing to panic about – since we all have different nerves. As been said, just try again the next time and do not put any pressure on yourself.

The beauty of doing this with children is that they do not and never will put any pressure on you or expect anything from you – they just think that this is funny and exciting regardless. They are so innocent and harmless that you should have nothing to fear at all.

If you are a woman and is disappointed now because we have only been talking about penises, do not worry. The reason for not making a vagina guide for the first adult genital exploration is simply because the vagina will not have any of the penis' functions and surprises. The vagina is much simpler and easier for a child to explore and play with the very first time. You can just skip all the male preparations and just show your vagina to the child and let the child do whatever he or she wants to do with it. Though, you will still need to practice a good personal hygiene, as the males do.

Some of you might be tempted to suggest oral sex to the child during this step and session. We do not recommend this, since this might be too much for the child the first time it explores a penis.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genitalia)

Now – read the fictional illustration.

This illustration is pure literature and will show you a random sample of this step in practice based on true stories from real life scenarios. You are obligated to read this during this education to make sure that you know how to handle some potential surprises and see how this step could turn out in real life.

Joe comes through the front door with Emilie, on their way into their house, after having collected Emilie from preschool a couple of hours earlier than usual ... he wants to go through step four of the step-by-step guide, so he needs this time alone together. Emilie is excited because Joe has already spoken to her about the game in the car on their way home, and he asked if she would like to play their secret game again this early afternoon ... and she wanted that very much. Not very soon after they enter the house, they're going into Emilie's bedroom to play the game. Joe is carefully locking the door behind him, just to add another layer of security in case of a surprise.

Do you want me to take all my clothes off, Joe? So that you can play with my pee-pee again?

Joe takes her hands carefully and guides her down on the floor, and sits down in front of her.

Today, Emilie, Joe wants to do something really really exciting, and that is something new that we yet haven't played together.

Emilie gets huge eyes while looking at Joe. She's getting even more excited now.

What is that, Joe?

You know that we boys and men have a pee-pee too, just like you girls have, right?

Yes! And that is called a penis!

Emilie giggles.

Right! And today Joe wants to show you his penis so you can see how it really looks like.

Emilie's jaw drops a little bit, but in the same time with a smile. Then she starts to bite on her underlip, as usual when she gets excited.

Most little girls haven't seen that before. So ... would you like to take a closer look at a male pee-pee, little princess? And really see how it is and how it looks like?

Emilie smiles a little bit embarrassingly, and her head drops a little bit sideways.

Yes.

She is obviously interested, but a little bit skeptical too ... so Joe decides to take things very careful and gradual from there.

Cool! But before you can see it, and explore it, you'll need to learn some things about it first. Okay?

Okay.

I'm going to get something that I'll need to show you while you learn about the adult male pee-pee ... and this will be funny!

Joe goes down to the kitchen and gets a carton of Kefir from the fridge that he bought the day before as a part of the preparation to this step. He also picks up a spoon from the kitchen drawer. And He goes back into Emilie's bedroom and locks the door again.

That is a Kefir, Joe!

Emilie points at it while Joe is sitting down in front of her again.

That's right, my little baby beauty, and you'll soon know why I've brought it here.

My little Emilie ... an adult male pee-pee, that is called a penis, is a very special thing and it's very kind to little girls.

Emilie giggles again while holding one of her hands in front of her mouth.

It can do special things that are very funny ... like it can grow and get big and hard, and it can shrink and get small and soft.

It also has something inside it called seeds. These are the seeds that can make little babies if they're planted inside an adult mommy's tummy. The male penis can spit those seeds out if you squeeze on it or pull on it for a while. And that's very funny!

How do those seeds look like, Joe?

Well, let me show you that before you see the penis.

Okay.

Come with your hands, and I'll show you.

Emilie reaches her hands straight outwards towards Joe, smiling widely and being very interested in what's happening.

Joe opens the Kefir and pours some into the spoon.

Does it look like Kefir?

It looks exactly like Kefir, my baby doll. Just like this.

Joe pours some Kefir into Emilie's hands.

It's cold.

I know. The Kefir is cold since it has been in the fridge all the time. The seeds from within the penis is a little warmer though, but they both look, feel and even taste practically the same.

Do you want to taste the seeds while licking it off your hands?

Emilie licks the Kefir off her hands while looking at Joe with a smile and excitement in her eyes.

Then she tastes the Kefir in her mouth.

It tastes almost like the yogurt we eat at preschool, but this one doesn't taste anything.

That is exactly how the seeds from the penis are like.

If you take off your sweater, I'll pour some seeds on your tummy, and you can feel how that's like. Would you like to do that?

Okay!

Emilie pulls off her sweater pretty fast and is suddenly sitting there with a nude upper body ... still smiling and having fun.

Just lean a little bit backwards ... and this will feel funny.

Emilie leans backwards, and Joe pours some drops of Kefir over her breast and tummy.

She screams a little bit and giggles.

It's so cold, Joe!

I know. Therefore the seeds inside the penis is a lot nicer, because those are a little bit warmer.

Emilie uses her finger to clean up the Kefir ... and eats it.

Now we can do something really funny, and that is to get the seeds in your mouth. If you want to, you can lean your head backwards and close your eyes.

Emilie does what Joe suggests without hesitating.

You can reach out your tongue too if you want to.

Her pink little tongue goes all the way out, and she's laughing a little bit with her mouth open and her tongue outside.

When she gets some drops of Kefir into her mouth, she laughs loudly ... then tastes it and eats it. And she opens her mouth again to get more dripped into it.

She laughs even more when Joe drips some Kefir on her face on purpose.

She continues to laugh a little bit more while she smiles at him with yogurt dripping from her face.

Wasn't that funny or what? The seeds from the penis looks and feels just like that, and even tastes just like that.

It was very funny, Joe!

Would you like to see the penis now ... and explore it for the first time?

Mm ... okay.

She's a little bit unsure, but then again she still have that round and little curious face.

And you remember that the children are the ones who decide everything and can stop the game whenever they want to, right?

Yes, I remember that.

She says it quietly, but still excited.

How about we both undress ourselves all nude, and then you can sit on my lap and explore a penis for the first time?

Emilie starts to undress, while looking closely at Joe with her curious look while he's undressing too.

She gets her big eyes and somewhat dropping jaw again when she sees Joe's big penis come out of his underpants, halfway stiff.

He sits down on her bed while resting his back toward the wall ... and Emilie approaches him slowly, while biting on her underlip again, and crawls carefully into Joe's arms.

Joe lifts her up and onto his lower abdomen, and his growing penis goes straight between her warm and soft ties while she's looking distinctly at it while it points straight up and toward her head by now.

He starts to feel her arms and talk to her:

See ... do you remember that I told you that the penis can grow and get big and hard?

Yes.

And she smiles widely.

She's almost in a trance by now, of pure excitement and curiosity.

You're allowed to touch it if you want to, and even play with it with your small hands, but only if you want to.

While smiling widely, Emilie takes her index finger and just touches the penis carefully one time. Then she looks at Joe and smiles.

Did you feel that?

Yes, I did. And it felt nice, just as when I touched and played with your beautiful little pee-pee yesterday.

Don't be afraid of touching it more, if you want to.

Then she takes a brave grip around the upper part of the penis with her right hand and moves it a little bit around ... forwards, backwards and sideways ... until she lets it go, and it goes straight back to the original position, pointing up and towards her.

Joe grunts a little bit, and a clear drop of lubricant fluid can be seen on the top of his penis.

Is that the seeds, Joe?

No, that's just a lubricant fluid, just like your little pee-pee gets wet when you play with it. It's the same fluid.

Can I touch it?

She looks at Joe with her question.

Sure, just put your finger in it and then taste your finger.

Emilie does what Joe suggests and tastes the little fluid that's there from her finger.

It tastes strange.

Joe feels suddenly an immediate and strong urge of ejaculating.

Would you like to see the seeds now, princess? And maybe even make them come out by using your little hands?

Okay! How do I do that?

Let me show you.

With some light shiver in his hands, he leads her right hand to the lower part of the penis ... and then her left hand a little bit up.

Just squeeze it good with both your hands, and then move them up and down, just like you do when milking a cow.

Emilie laughs.

Like this?

She says with her soft beautiful little girl voice and starts to masturbate the penis in a little bit flimsy way, but still effective enough.

Yes, that's fine.

Oh my God. This feels so good, Emilie, just like when I licked your pee-pee yesterday. Just continue to do this and the seeds will come.

Joe starts to breathe more intensively, but still tries to avoid scaring her, and squeezes her into his body. He smells into her hair and hug her soft right cheek ... while the little girl masturbates the penis with her cold and small hands.

He then pats her head, hair and feels her all over her body, while she masturbates that big male penis with lots of excitement.

She leans herself into Joe's chest and feels very secure and comfortable ... and they get a very arousing and intimate moment together in her pink baby girl room with dolls and toys all over.

Everything has to come to an end, so Joe is suddenly feeling a huge and powerful orgasm build up, the penis gets rock hard, and then he grunts out and pumps several loads of semen all over little Emilie ... over her tummy, chest ... and even some on her face.

Emilie screams and giggles, and turns her head away while still masturbating the penis.

Joe! That was so funny! How did you do that?

She looks at the penis again, and suddenly gets a very strange look.

Joe, is your pee-pee broken?

He looks at it, and sees that she has managed to pull back the foreskin. And he has to laugh ... and he kisses her soft right cheek.

No, my little princess. That is just one more cool thing that the male pee-pee can do. Let me show you how.

He pulls the foreskin forwards and backwards to show her.

Cool! Can I try that too?

Of course. You can do whatever you want with it.

Emilie is dripping of cum, but she's too excited to even notice all the semen that have been spitted all over her nude little child body.

She plays a little bit more with the penis while Joe dries the semen off her body with his t-shirt.

Wasn't that fun, Emilie?

Yes, I love playing with penises! Can we do this more, Joe?

Look ... the next time we play this game, if you want to do that, then we can do something really fun with our pee-pees, okay?

Yes! I would like to do that! Can we do that right now? Please?

I'm sorry, Emilie, but we have to wait at least one day before we play again.

No! Why?

Emilie gets a little bit pouty.

Well, then we will have something to look forward to. Right? Then you will have something to look forward to.

Okay.

She accepts it, but the pout is still hanging on her.

My good little girl!

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 4 (Exploring the adult's genital)

And now you should be pretty much finish with this whole step.

We hope that everything turned out as planned and that our professional advices have helped you getting your very first orgasm and cum shot either with a child close to you or just in front of you. It should be a very hot and unique moment regardless.

You do not need to repeat this step, since now the child should be very custom to this game, hence the next step will not be that much of a surprise or a change for the child. Still though, it might be wise, just as Joe did at the end of the illustration, to shut the game down and make sure that the girl does not get too much at once the very first time she explores the penis – as with little boys. So shut the game down after a while, ideally when you get an orgasm, and wait at least one day before redoing it or going to the next step – we recommend going straight to the next step.

The next and last step will be the icing on the cake and finally give you a complete child love education so you can start calling yourself a professional child lover.

We will be seeing you very soon in Step 5 – and so long for now.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

It is our pleasure to welcome you to the fifth and last step of The Mule's step-by-step guide! It has been a pleasure being with all of you students so far, and we look forward to guide you through the easiest and most delicious part of this whole guide.

If everything has gone successfully to this point, this step will be easy to go through, since this step will combine all the previous steps into true child love and making love with innocent children.

Though there are a couple of new elements that this step will introduce to your game, but this should go perfectly fine.

Warning! (This is really important!)

This step might end up with the child performing oral sex on you, and even swallowing your semen. Oral sex is considered, in most parts of the world, as a complete and fully sexual intercourse. In other words: if you should get caught by doing this, you might be sentenced for premature rape and a fully sexual intercourse with a child as in child rape. Such a sentence will be much higher and in general way more serious compared to any other sexual play between adults and kids. That includes a way longer prison term. In some parts of the world it can give you a lifetime jail sentence, especially if you get caught after several oral sex intercourses.

Please take this into consideration before you start on this step. If you agree to the danger that this step will increase, well, then it is just to change to the next page and have a lot of fun!

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

Since our innocent and precious little children do not have properly developed genitals, especially little girls, oral sex is a very special, intimate and arousing way for an adult and a little child to make love together and create the strongest human bonds possible. Most kids enjoy sucking on male penises, especially little girls, because it is firstly very intimate and loving, and secondly exciting, arousing and hot. Most kids will be instinctively horny by doing this.

Oral sex is not dangerous as long as you are following this guide precisely and do not have any genitalia health problems. It can be performed by a child on an adult as much as both can stand.

This step does not need any preparations for it to be successful, since now you are mostly about to practice things that you already have done together – except for two new things:

1. Sensual kissing on the child's face, lips and tongue.
2. Letting your little spouse suck you off, as in oral sex.

These new elements might not happen during this step if the child does not want to – but he or she should manage to finally build up the braveness to do it after several plays together. So you must be prepared to respect the child's limits and generally be patient.

Please note that making love can actually be done without any penetrations, like oral sex. We will teach you all about this during this step.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

As we have written on the former page, you do not need to make any preparations for this step to be successful – though, we will provide you with alternate options for this step that will require some preparations. What option for you to choose when you are about to make love to your little spouse for the first time, will be very much up to your situation and personal resources. Whatever option you choose to use, it will be just as successful as the other.

Let us look at these options right away:

1. The easiest and recommended option for first timers and inexperienced child lovers – just creating a simple but still powerful love making session while you are alone together.
2. A higher level of complexity that is recommended for more experienced users – creating a romantic environment in advance, like setting up a tent with a soft mattress in it or preparing a nice and comfy bed ready for making love, with some flowers in it and a rose on the pillow. And a jewel gift.
3. The highly advanced option – a romantic diner and dessert, dress up, makeup, perfume, candles, jewel gift, slow music and dancing. Using a whole evening. And finally go to a bed with flowers and candles all around, and make love.

We are not saying that first timers and inexperienced users can not choose option 2 and 3, but we highly recommend not using them. This is because all these options can be performed in later sessions. This choice only regards your first love making, then you are free to choose another one the next time – or try all three if you want to.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

Regardless of option chosen for the first love making session, the child will anyway love it. The child will feel like being the center of the universe, and it will feel more loved and needed than ever before in its life. This will be especially important if the child is one of those sad and lonely kids with very little to no adult attention or friends in its life – then you will be giving that child a just as big and important gift as the child will be giving you as a paedophile.

If you have chosen option 3 at page 148 as your first love making session, then you will need to plan this well through and make sure that you will have a whole evening alone with the child inside a house or an apartment – and preferably a whole night, though a whole night is not required. And you will need to make this evening a romantic evening with dedication, romance and love in the air. The latter should not be difficult anyway, as you now are in love.

The advantage with kids is that they do not expect that much and are happy with almost anything you serve or create for them. Though, we have some preparation tips if you want to practice the full romance package:

Place a little table inside a cozy room, like a living room, and place two candles on it. Dim or turn off the lights in that room for the dinner and dessert. Also decorate the table with pink or blue stuff, and add some red colors to make the air sexy and hot. Put on some romantic music, as in a slow and delightful rhythm. Make a nice and somehow expensive dinner with a dessert – or order such food. You can also buy some makeup and ask the child if she would like to be a pretty little lady this evening – and even buy a beautiful dress or whatever clothing that fits the gender of your spouse.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

You may also do something with the child's hair, like putting on cute pigtails on a little girl, or making a little boy a hansom little doll. We also recommend some sweet perfume for the child, but that is anyway completely up to you and your taste – not required.

When the child is bathed and/or clothed, with a nice makeup and hair style, guide your little spouse to the dining room and just make yourself comfortable by the table with candle lights and nice music.

Give the child as many compliments you can creatively invent, and remind him or her that you look forward to play the game together again later that evening – and that you love him or her very much.

Especially all girls from four years of age and above will really be able to sense this romance and make that affect them socially, sensually and sexually – this is their basic human instinct working.

After the diner, dance a little bit close together to the slow music. If you are having a little spouse, you can lift him or her while dancing close together. You may also try to carefully kiss the child, while dancing, on both the cheeks – and very carefully on the lips.

After some minutes of dancing, or as long as you prefer to dance, give a special gift to your spouse. It should be a nice jewel or something – little girls will love that enormously, and this will also work as a loving foreplay and really turn her on and fall for you. Little boys will appreciate any cool toys, for that matter.

Finally it is time to lead the child to the bedroom and its first sexual intercourse with an adult.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

If you want to prepare the bed too, you can make it very enticing by using red colors on the sheets, and even put flowers on the bed and around in the bedroom. You can also buy aroma candles to make it really aesthetic and hot for both of you.

Use your creativity and in general try to create a very sensual and aesthetic environment and evening for you and your little spouse.

If you have chosen option 2 on page 148, you will not need to make all the previous preparations. But you can still make it romantic.

We suggest that you bring a lot of candy to your secret place when you are about to meet, and just spend some decent time together, like eating a lot of candy and just having fun. In this way, you will be creating and building up some romance and tension in the child.

You should also consider bringing your little love a gift, even though if you have previously done that already, like a nice jewel or something else nice, to make the child feel special and appreciated. Give the gift to the child before you start to play your secret game. Tell her that you love her while you are giving her the gift. This will really lift your friendship and love to a higher level.

Optionally you may prepare a bed for the two of you with some flowers and aroma candles around. Or setup a tent in advance with a nice and soft mattress in it, if you are doing this outdoors.

This option is especially useful for those of you who are having a secret place outdoors. In general, just try to use your creativity and make it as romantic as possible, considering your limitations.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

Otherwise, if you are short on time or you do not have much of personal resources, or you are totally new to this and just want to make things as easy as possible the first time, then you can just play the game as before without any preparations or special props at all – which means using option 1 on page 148. But it will still be highly successful and delightful for both of you.

The practical steps

Now you are about to make love to your child, and this will involve two new elements to your game: kissing and performing oral sex. These are not required for this step to be successful, therefore you will not need to talk to the child about it in advance, just try to make it happen during the game itself by being careful and loving.

Most children like to kiss and get kissed, especially those sad and lonely ones who will highly appreciate such attention. And most children also love oral sex, since it will turn them instinctively on sexually, thus be an arousing and loving part of the game.

You will need to arrange the game again and ideally make sure that you will have at least 2 hours of undisturbed time if you are using option 1 or 2 at page 148. Option 3 will require a whole evening of several hours – and ideally a whole night so you can sleep together.

When you are alone together, ask the child if she would like to play the game again and do something very lovely and exciting together that will feel especially nice and much nicer than anything you have done previously in this game.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

Since the probability for the child not wanting to play the game is as low as zero at this point, we will assume that the child wants to play it and that everything is generally well.

Tell the child that this time you will be undressing yourselves all nude and get into the bed and do something that is called: making love together – or use a harmless code instead to decrease the danger of the child slipping its tongue. Emphasize that this is not dangerous at all and it is almost the same as you already have done previously, but that this time it will be very magic and special.

As soon as you get nude, make sure that the child rests comfortably in the bed on its back. Then tell the child that you now would like to taste everything on her beautiful and special little body – and ask for permission to do that.

Start to kiss and taste her feet. Then kiss and lick your way up to her vagina, but stop before you reach it. Continue to kiss her little hands, and compliment how cute they are – and then kiss and taste your way up to her shoulder and neck. Suck on her neck a bit, but do not kiss her face yet. Then start to kiss her breasts and work your way down to her stomach and taste it well. Finally continue downwards and start to kiss and lick her vagina. Just be calm and loving while doing this, and enjoy it. Remember to use your hands to feel her all over her body while doing all this.

As you now can see, you are really just redoing all the things you have already done during our steps – in the right and best possible order to make the child feel safe, comfortable and appreciated.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

It is important not to give the child an orgasm yet, so stop licking her vagina after a while or as soon as you sense one coming.

Then lay yourself down on your back and ask her if she would like to play with your penis again – and ask her if she would like to lick it and taste it this time. If she does not want to do that, tell her that it is okay, and try to ask her again the next time you play. If she agrees to lick it and taste it, and it seems like she likes it, ask her if she would like to put it far inside her mouth and suck it well. Just let the child decide and be patient – do not put any pressure on her.

It should be completely danger free for the child to blow you off, since he or she has already learned about how the seeds look like and taste like in the previous session. But we still recommend that you ask her in advance if she would like to have your seeds in her mouth while sucking it – if you want to come inside her mouth – and eat it like when you poured Kefir into her mouth. If she agrees, consider yourself lucky and just let her suck you off and take you to heaven. If she does not agree to it, tell her that it is okay and just save your sperm for later or let her just jerk you off when it comes.

Regardless of an ejaculation or not, after she has sucked you well, or just played with the penis, tell the child that you would like to show her how to make love – and ask for her permission to do that. When making love, just make the child lie on her back in the bed. It might be wise to have a pillow or something soft under her upper body to raise it a little bit. Then crawl over her in the bed while standing on your knees. Spread her legs and tell her to grab for your penis, and just let her rub it over her pee-pee and butt crack, because that will be wet and feel very good.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

As you might see now in theory, this position will be very neat because now you can stand on your knees while in the same time lying over her and being able to feel her face, kiss her neck, kiss her cheeks, and even kiss her lips and ask if she would like to play with your tongues. She will rub your penis over her vagina, and you will have a very comfortable, nice and intimate position that hopefully will make both of you come - and come and come and--

Warning! (This is really important!)

Any gifts you choose to give to your child should stay as a secret between only the two of you. That means if you buy a necklace or a ring to your little lover, she must agree to hide it from other adults in her life - regardless of what situation you are in. This regards all gifts or toys you choose to give to a little girl or a little boy of yours. Even money.

In addition to this agreement between you and your little spouse, you may also tell the child that if any adults in his or her life should find that gift, the child can just tell that he or she found it outside.

This secrecy should work fine since you already share a very crucial and intimate secret together.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

Now – read the fictional illustration.

This illustration is pure literature and will show you a random sample of this step in practice based on true stories from real life scenarios. You are obligated to read this during this education to make sure that you know how to handle some potential surprises and see how this step could turn out in real life.

It's weekend now, and Joe is alone with Emilie while his girlfriend, Emilie's mother, is out on a girl party for the whole Saturday evening. He's a little bit unsure about how long he will be alone this evening, so he has chosen option 2 in the step-by-step guide, and try to make this evening as romantic and special as possible.

He has already bought a lot of candy and a secret necklace for Emilie that she must hide inside her secret box that she has stored under her bed, with her secret and private things inside.

Emilie looks at him in a special way, since she knows that they're going to have this evening all alone and private together.

A little while after her mom has left for the party with her friends, Joe asks Emilie to come and talk with him.

She climbs up on his lap and smiles at him.

Do you know what I'm about to ask you now, beautiful little princess?

Yes ... you want to ask me if I want to play our secret love game again. And I want to do that!

Joe gets a little bit surprised, in a positive way, and he understands now that she really likes this game and that she's very aware of their new loving and sensual relationship.

So do I, Emilie.

What are we going to do today, Joe? Can I play with your penis again?

Well ... today we are going to do a couple of new things, but we will mostly do the same things as we've already done, but just in another way that will be very loving and exciting for both of us.

Are you ready, princess?

Yes!

Okay! Cool!

I've bought some surprises for both you and me, so we can enjoy this evening very much together and love each other!

What have you bought, Joe? What have you bought?

Emilie gets really excited now ... and smiles while she pulls his hand.

You'll see as soon as we get into your room. Just go up there and wait there, and I'll get the surprises.

Joe enters Emilie's bedroom with a bag full of candy ... and he has a little box hidden in a pocket of his pants.

Yes! Candy! I love candy, I love candy, I love candy,

Emilie jumps in her bed and is utterly happy now.

Joe pour all the candy over her bedroom floor ... and they sit down and start to unwrap and eat sweet candy together.

After a little while of fooling around and eating candy, Joe asks Emilie:

Would you like to play the game now and undress all nude?

Okay!

Emilie pulls off her sweater in an instant.

I just want to give you something special before we begin.

What is that?

Look ... this is for you, since you are my lovely little girl that I love above everything in life.

He takes out the mysterious little box from his pocket and gives it to Emilie.

She opens the box and looks into it with big eyes.

Wow! Is this for me?

Can I have it?

Yes, it's all yours!

Let me help you put it on, and then you can look how pretty it is on you in your mirror.

Joe lifts up her ponytail and help her putting on the new and pretty expensive silver necklace.

Afterwards they go to the mirror on the wall, and Emilie looks at it while feeling it with her hands.

Wow! It shines and it looks so nice, Joe!

Yes. This is jewelry that only adults can use, but since we like to brake all these stupid rules, now you can own one ... and you will have to make this a secret and keep it in your secret box. Okay?

Okay, Joe. Can I wear it now while we are alone together?

Yes, of course. It looks so beautiful on you, and you can wear it when we are alone or outdoors together.

Thank you, Joe!

Emilie turns around and gives Joe a hard and tight hug.

You're always so kind to me, Joe.

That's because I'll always love you, the beautiful and sweet little girl that you are.

Now, let's undress and make ourselves cozy in your bed, okay?

Yes.

Emilie jumps into her bed and continues to undress ... while Joe is doing the same while standing in front of the bed.

She starts immediately to touch herself carefully while biting on her underlip again ... and Joe crawls into her bed in a seductive way.

Now, Emilie, I want us to do something special that is called, making love together. It will feel very nice. Do I have your permission?

Joe feels her body and sees that she's horny as hell.

Yes.

Emilie answers quietly.

Joe takes her hands away from her vagina so she doesn't get an orgasm yet.

My little horny princess, let's wait with touching ourselves until we make love, okay?

Okay.

She smiles and takes her hands away from her vagina.

Joe starts the game by lifting up her left foot, and then starts to kiss it and lick it.

Emilie laughs.

Do you remember that we did this the first time we played our secret game, Joe?

Oh yeah. I do.

He continues to lick and suck on her feet for a little while, while Emilie is giggling and trying to retract them.

Then he starts to kiss and lick her legs, and goes all the way up to her inner ties and almost to her vagina. He gets so close to it that he can smell a weak but sweet scent from it.

Then he crawls over her and starts to kiss her delicious little child arms and doll hands. He kisses her right arm up towards her shoulder and suck a little bit on her neck. He carefully kisses her cheek, and she doesn't seem to mind that at all now ... more like enjoying it.

Then he kisses her chest and sucks on her tiny little nipples.

He works himself downwards to her stomach ... the little girl is shivering a bit now and seems to be super horny ... and he sucks and licks her tummy while in the same time feeling her all over her warm and soft little child body.

She giggles a little bit when he is at her stomach.

And finally he goes down to a completely wet and lubricated vagina with a tiny clear stream of pussy juice coming out from the lower part of the genital. He puts his mouth all over this completely wet, salty and sweet smelling child vagina and begins to suck it well.

He slurps and licks up every drop of that priceless kiddie pussy juice.

Emilie moans pretty good now ... and she twists her legs around Joe's neck and grabs for his head again ... just like the last time she got eaten and got her biggest and most powerful orgasm in her life so far.

Even though he would prefer to have her orgasm later, he can't stop now because she's too horny to even be able to stop.

She is kicking her legs and moaning, with that crying voice again, and suddenly she explodes with an orgasm and moans loudly with her tiny voice.

Ah, Joe, don't stop! Don't stop. Please.

She commands him!

Joe continues to lick her and can't eat enough of her pussy juice.

He's having a serious and dripping hard-on at this point.

Finally ... Joe seems to be able to stop licking her, so he wipes his mouth with the bed sheet ... and he continues to feel her body.

Emilie is just lying there and smiles partially with red cheeks.

That felt really good, Joe. I really love this game. I don't want to stop now!

Joe crawls over her and starts to pat her head, feel her cheeks and hair. He even smells into her hair ... and is ready to ejaculate.

Do you want to try something cool?

Yes!

This will feel really nice, I promise you.

Just take your cute little hands, grab my penis, and just rub it all over your precious little vagina.

She smiles devilish, bites her teeth, and grabs downwards for it.

He can feel her cold little hands ... and then she starts to rub his penis head against her vagina, up and down. And into her little butt crack too.

That feels very good, Joe. But your penis is very hard now.

She almost whispers.

It feels very good for me to, princess.

Joe starts to smell her hair again, and carefully kissing and sucking on her chubby right cheek. But it doesn't take very long until his penis starts to stiffen up and gets ready for a major ejaculation.

Right before he is about to come, he does a bold move and kisses her lips. Emilie pucker her lips in a very cute way, since she's trying to kiss well but doesn't know how to do it that well yet, but it doesn't matter to Joe, really, he just kisses this little child's mouth, with her cute and red little lips, soft and wet, while he starts to pump out semen ... a huge load that doesn't seem to end.

But it did finally end, and he lays himself down and crawls into her right side and kiss her and cuddle with her ... and she seems to really like this very close, loving and intimate moment.

Emilie dips a finger into the huge pit of sperm, that is over her tummy and chest, among several small drops all over the place, and she tastes it with her finger.

It came a lot of seeds out of your penis this time, Joe. Why is that?

Sometimes the penis can spit out a lot of seeds if a man and a little girl really love each other and is having a nice time together.

It tastes funny.

She says it with a little bit unsure voice.

They're just lying there for about fifteen minutes or so ... cuddling, feeling and kissing ... before Joe starts to get a new hard-on.

Emilie?

Yes?

You don't have to do it if you don't want to, but what do you think of kissing and tasting my penis, just like I've tasted your pee-pee?

Would you like to try that out?

Okay.

Emilie smiles a little bit of unsureness, and biting her teeth again, but she seems to be pretty curious about it too.

She crawls slowly down towards the penis ... that is halfway stiff at this moment.

Then she grabs it and squeezes it well.

Now it's soft, Joe!

Yeah, I know.

Just do whatever you want with it, but you are allowed to taste it if you would like to.

Emilie is just touching it, studying it, and playing a little bit with it to begin with.

But then she suddenly pushes her tongue into the tip of it. And then she starts to lick it carefully. And finally she starts to suck a little bit on the penis head.

Just open your mouth widely, and then take it as long as you can into your mouth, and just suck it really well ... but only if you want to.

Emilie does exactly what Joe suggests. She opens her mouth and lets it go inside her mouth a bit, and then she closes her mouth around the penis and just letting it stay there for a while, inside her mouth, while exploring oral sex for the first time in her life.

Joe grunts quietly while feeling the most wet hole in his whole life so far to have his penis inside.

Emilie takes it out fast.

Joe, it grows inside my mouth!

And she opens her mouth widely again and letting it stay inside her mouth once again ... being pretty excited and curious about it.

Joe takes his hands carefully onto her head and letting his fingers stroke through her blond ponytail.

Just let your head go backwards and forwards while you have it in your mouth, baby princess, so you can suck it right.

And he carefully uses his hands to steer her head a bit and teach her how to suck well.

And you can do it faster too, if you want to.

Not very long after, Joe is lying on his back with his rock hard penis pointing straight upwards, and Emilie is sitting over it and sucking it pretty fast and giving him a pretty well done blow job. It looks like she really likes it and is very excited about doing it.

Having his penis blown by this little preschooler, and hearing the wet sounds from the blow job, makes him intensively horny.

Suddenly, while seeing her sucking him with lots of engagement and excitement, Joe regret pretty hard that he didn't put pigtails on her ... but that will have to wait for the next time.

He grabs for her pussy with his left hand, and Emilie moves her body a bit, in the same time as she sucks, so he'll get a better grip.

Joe begins to rub her pussy pretty well, and Emilie just sucks even deeper and faster while he's masturbating her.

They both are breathing pretty well by now, and Emilie has been seriously turned on by getting her pussy masturbated while having a stiff, wet and horny male penis far inside her mouth. She even makes moaning sounds with the penis far inside her mouth, and sucks it like she really wants to do it and like doing it.

They continue like this for a while, until Joe feels like coming again.

In the same time, Emilie gets a little shivering orgasm while sucking the penis with great enjoyment.

He forgets to warn her, and shoots a moderate load of semen inside her mouth while grunting pretty loudly.

Emilie reacts to the semen, and she slows down a bit, but she doesn't stop completely, neither does she take it out of her mouth, she just continuing with curious eyes while exploring this very hot, new and thrilling part of this game.

Finally she takes it out of her mouth ... some semen comes out of her mouth ... and looks at him with a blushing face and wet red lips.

Oh my God, my little baby princess ... my little beauty doll ... come to me!

Emilie crawls into Joe's arms while biting a little bit on her under lip of unsureness.

This is enough for now. Just let us stay her for a little while in the bed before mommy comes home.

Joe is comforting her and feeling her body all over.

Emilie then looks up at him.

This is the best game I've ever played, Joe! We must play it many many many times!

And she smiles at him with sealed lips.

THE PRACTICAL STEPS

Step 5 (Making love for the first time)

Congratulations, dear students!

You have now completed this guide and education, hopefully with great success – and you are now, officially, professional child lovers. You are now ready to find yourself a child, wherever you choose to, and claim what you need and deserve – while creating special friendships and loving relationships, saving lonely and sad children, and finally start to teach our beautiful little innocent children about sex and that sex is harmless, fun and that every child should do it.

If you have done all these steps in real life by now, we are happy to tell you that there are no more steps for you to go through. From now on, your hands will be free and you can continue to play the love game with your little spouse and lover – and you can do whatever you want to and explore new things together without being tied to anything. And you can play this game as much as you want to and are able to.

Just make sure that you are kind and careful with your little one and respect his or her limits and feelings.

Of course, if you are about to find a new child, you will need to go through these steps again. That regards every new child who you find and want to practice sex with during your life.

It has been a pleasure being with all of you during these steps – and us behind this guide wishes you the very best of luck while searching for and finding children to love. They are waiting for you!

Remember to read the last part of this guide – because it continues.

ENCLOSURE AND FINAL INFORMATION

Before you actually begin

You have by now gone through a child love education about how to practice child love as in practicing sex with children and minors. So you are now educated in theory about child psychology and sexology, where to find children in our huge world, how to approach the children and establish relationships, and most importantly: how to teach both yourself and the children about sex and love.

An obligatory warning

We can not promise anyone of our students with 100% certainty that any of our advices or steps will be successful and/or keep you from getting caught. Please note that child love is extremely dangerous to practice in real life because of the harsh laws against it and the social stigma with its negative consequences.

Since nothing is bulletproof in this world, we are obligated to give you this warning so that you are fully aware of the dangers involved and that you can not blame us if anything goes or has gone wrong.

If something should go wrong during the practice of this guide, it is essentially not the guide that will cause it, but one or several of all the unpredictable factors surrounding any real life child love practice. These factors are: all the different children out there with different mentalities and pedagogics, different parents and communities, and different paedophiles with different intellectual levels, patience, social competence, personalities, and so forth.

You will have to make a final decision if you want to practice child love or not – and make that decision based on how much this is worth to you and worth these risks.

ENCLOSURE AND FINAL INFORMATION

Before you actually begin

Our reinsurance to you as a practicing child lover

This guide and education has been created in a unique way by several specialists to prevent any negative consequence regarding child love practice from happening to you. You can even go pretty far during your search and our practical steps before your actions get illegal – while in the same time learning how much your child trusts you and likes you before you cross this important border. Therefore, by following this guide precisely and thoroughly, you will be working within a secure safety border for both you and the children when searching for children, creating relationships, and educating children about child love, sex and happy feelings. In other words, you will be as safe as it gets and much safer than those who are not using our guide.

Always remember that there are a lot of children out there who need and search for loving adults – and also remember how nice it will feel to finally be able to have a little friend and lover, and finally be able to make love to such a beautiful little child as a paedophile. Just look closely at the picture at the right – and just imagine.

You are a paedophile, and there are lonely and sad children out there who are waiting for you as you are sitting here and reading. There are also children out there who would love to be your special friend and lover, and enjoy and teach sexual play together.

You live only once – so our advice is to get out there and find yourself a child to love. Claim your right as a paedophile and save our beautiful and sexy children from our distorted culture that brainwashes children to believe that sex is shameful and harmful.

ENCLOSURE AND FINAL INFORMATION

Before you actually begin

How to keep yourself safe

How to keep yourself safe is our number one priority. We care about all you paedophiles out there who are going to practice child love. Therefore we will here add some security tips that are too often overlooked and are the ones that usually get us into trouble.

Remember that toddlers are very verbal and bad secret keepers!

If you engage an obvious sexual relationship with a wide awake toddler below the age of 5, the child might love it and love you too, but it might also, at least with great odds, tell anyone about what you have done together in one or another way. This does not have to be intentionally, but rather that toddlers between the age of 2-4 love to speak and just does not know any better.

Use codes with small children below the age of 5 - or in general!

Since such small children are not the best secret keepers, it could be wise, and even wise in general with older children too, to use codes for your genitals and sexual actions. In this way, if the child should accidentally slip its tongue, the risk of anyone getting alerted or suspicious will decrease significantly.

ENCLOSURE AND FINAL INFORMATION

Before you actually begin

Stick to sleeping toddlers or kids if you can not control yourself!

Many paedophiles find themselves in a difficult situation when they suddenly and unexpectedly gain access to a child, and just can not hold back or control their urges. This is understandable and very usual – so if this happens, we recommend that you cuddle carefully with that particular child only when he or she is asleep.

Any sleeping child usually sleeps very deep – so you can do a lot to a sleeping child before he or she wakes up. Thus a sleeping child can be loved without even knowing it. Still you must be careful.

When a child is asleep, you will not get detected. And if you do not put any traces on the child, this should be completely safe.

Never drug children to make them sleepy or unconscious!

There are paedophiles out there, who are actually kind and loving, but have still ended up killing a child. They just wanted the child to stay asleep while loving and cuddling with it, most likely because they were afraid of getting caught and wanted to protect the child, and therefore used sleeping pills or similar drugs to make sure that the child was sleeping deeply. Unfortunately the child died because of the drugs – either because of an overdose, allergic reaction, or any other unpredictable side effect that the child did not survive.

This is utterly tragic, so never ever even consider doing that. It is just not worth the extreme risk, even though you know you have got the right medicine and dose.

ENCLOSURE AND FINAL INFORMATION

Before you actually begin

Be aware of hidden cameras!

This is mostly related to babysitters, daycare workers, and teachers in the elementary schools – or any public institution with children. Hidden cameras at official work places are illegal in most parts of the world if the workers are not informed about them – but they are still used to try to capture child lovers. You should be especially careful when babysitting – here they are called nanny cameras.

These cameras are often to be found behind mirrors, inside the LCD screen of DVD-players and similar electronics, inside a teddy bear's or a doll's eye, inside clocks hanging on the wall, inside small clocks standing on a table, and even very small things by using a pinhole. It can practically be hidden inside whatever glass or glossy surface.

Since they are hidden in the first place, they might be very difficult to spot or detect. This is a chance you will need to take regardless.

Though there are some tools you can get at the average spy shop to detect such cameras – like a laser tool that you can point at any glass or glossy surface in a room, and it will detect and inform you about any optical camera lenses behind it, like a camera being hidden inside or behind anything. And there are tools to detect audio devices too, like microphones hidden somewhere. Though cameras are what you should be looking for and be aware of.

This kind of search for hidden cameras might actually reveal your true goal – but it is much better getting fired for a suspicion, or just leaving a place, rather than getting serious jail time for seducing or making love to a child – and being caught on tape.

ENCLOSURE AND FINAL INFORMATION

Before you actually begin

Have eyes in your neck when practicing child love!

Many paedophiles actually get detected while having sex with kids because someone unexpectedly shows up and catch them while being in the middle of the act – or they get so close to getting caught that they are having a serious problem explaining what is going on. This can cause trauma for all parties, but especially for the child and its secret adult lover.

Do not underestimate the possibility of being seen or getting caught red handed by other people. Double check, and even triple check, that you will not get disturbed when you are with a child.

After a while, and especially when you start to feel more confident and secure about child love, you might let your guards down – and then it is too easy to get too secure, and consequently sloppy.

Also make sure to have a way out, as in an escape route or undo, in an emergency situation. This is especially important if you are having sex with a child, and you are at a place where there might come people around or into your area during your session.

ENCLOSURE AND FINAL INFORMATION

Before you actually begin

Consider using a condom if you can not afford spilling evidence!

We have already been talking about DNA evidence in your semen.

One thing is to get caught, another thing is to be prosecuted in court and sentenced to jail because of evidence. Without evidence, there will always be a chance of going free, if caught.

If you are practicing child love with a child that is not yours or you can not afford spilling any evidence on the child or its belongings, you should strongly consider using a condom - either if the child is asleep or awake.

When using a condom, all your semen will be ejaculated and stored safely in it. And finally get rid of it in the safest possible and most destructive way later - like flushing it down in a toilet somewhere safe where no one knows you have been.

Some final words

Try to add your own common sense during the practice of this guide and be very careful - in the same time as practicing self control and letting the children always decide everything.

Please read trough this guide at least two times before you start on anything in real life, and really learn each section or step in this guide before you are about to practice any of them.

Please give us feedback, wherever possible, to continue develop and fine tune this guide to make it even better.

The whole team behind The Mule's step-by-step guide wants to wish you all the best and the best of luck during your search for innocent little children and performing child love practice!
